The police are in possession of the skeleton key used, which was found on the floor of one of the homes entered. The homes where an entrance was gained were those of William P. Boyd, 924 Winslow avenue; James Edmundson, 930 Beckford street; D. R. Moore, 1031 Beckford street; C. A. Wasson, 919 Adams street. The attempted entry was at the home of Charles A. Brunton, 921 Adams street.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Just four more shopping days until Christmas. Hurry up, folks!

It may have been the beautiful red bike or it may have been the young owner. Anyway the little lad was very interested and took no trouble concealing it. He stood in front of the postoffice about ten yards away from the little girl and her beautiful red bike, and gazed enraptured. The little girl bashfully gazed at the sidewalk with lowered eyes, kicked the pedal of the beautiful red bike, wriggled excitedly, and feigned nonchalance.

Christmas tuberculosis seals will be sold in several downtown stores on Saturday. Be sure to get your allotment.

There are some unique Christmas toys in the downtown windows. A large crowd of youngsters were standing in front of a window last evening watching a mechanical mouse run up a clock! Hey, hey, hickory dickory dock!

Pa New was shown through the Margaret L. Henry children's home the other day and in the course of the tour he stopped to watch the lively antics of a wee turtle in a large gold fish bowl. It was explained that the turtle was the pet of little Stanley Blair and that he had consented to put it in with the fish, if there was no danger of it drowning.

The children at the home love to do things for Miss Margaret L. Henry, the founder and matron. Miss Henry's room is furnished with rugs, curtains, pillows, dresser scarfs, etc., that have all been made by children of the home. The youngsters love to crochet and embroider and then have the pleasure of presenting their handwork to Miss Henry.

Boys at the Margaret L. Henry home make their own beds every morning before going to school. They are good at it too.

Terrific Gale

(International News Service)
CARTAGENA, Spain, Dec. 19.—With the worst gale in 30 years lashing the North African coast and causing extensive damage, the flight of the divided Italian air squadron of General Italo Balbo from here to Morocco was postponed today pending a lull in the storm. Six of the 14 planes are in the Balearic Islands where they were forced to land two days ago, the remainder await them here for the hop to Kenitra, Morocco. Bad weather prevented General Balbo and his companions from rejoining the main group here yesterday. The seaplane squadron is on a seven-stage flight to South America.

age

(International News Service)
DONORA, Pa., Dec. 19.—Fire that blazed for almost 4 hours today destroyed the pipe shop and millwright's department of the Donora plant of the American Steel and Wire Company and completely paralyzed the entire factory. Hampered by low water pressure, firemen were unable to halt the raging flames which enveloped the power house after spreading from the two smaller shops. Damage was estimated at $50,000 by police.

Forced to pump water from the tanks of railroad engines in the yards of the factory, the fire fighters did not bring the flames under control until 6 o'clock this morning. More than 10 tons of hot metal in the blocking mill was rendered useless when all machinery was stopped by the flames as they crippled the power house. Officials announced repairs on the plant will go forward at once in order that the employees, almost on thousand in number, will not suffer unemployment. Cause of the fire which broke out in the pipe shop at about 2:30 was undetermined.

HUNT SLAYER OF SCHOOL TEACHER

With hardly a clue to work on, national guard troops, peace officers and aroused citizens have been searching for the murderer of Velma Colter, above, 19-year-old school teacher of Maryville, Mo. The girl was attacked and slain in her country schoolroom after she had evidently waged a terrific struggle.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Dec. 19.—Reynold Gunn, a negro ex-convict, today was held in a St. Joseph jail following his confession here to the murder of Miss Velma Colter, 19-year-old school teacher.

Shortly after Gunn was apprehended, the authorities rushed him to St. Joseph fearing mob violence although no demonstration had been made on his capture.

The one clue that officers had to the slaying of Miss Colter led to the arrest of Gunn.

Richard New, farm youth, told them he had seen a man loitering near the school house and in the spot where New said he had seen the man, the imprint of a heel was found.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 19.—Well, the World Court blowed up till next December, anyhow. Papers are calling it a defeat for Mr. Hoover. Say, I bet you he is tickled to death. It's one of those things he was under obligations to propose, and to get it off his hands this easy, why, he is just laughing up his sleeve for the first time in months.

If there is one thing that it would be laughable for this country to try and show the rest of the world how to do, it would be to run a court, of all the cockeyed things we got in this country at the present time, it's some of our judges, and courts, and justice.

We got more bandits out on bond than we got people for 'em to rob.

Five weeks after Howard was killed in a South Side saloon Capone was taken into custody and questioned regarding the murder.

LEWISBURG, Pa., Dec. 19.—Five young men, including W. Wheeler Watson, 23, son of Federal Judge Albert L. Coroner Joseph Fisher, summoned from Sunbury, began an inquiry into the accident immediately. It was believed the driver lost control of the car when he attempted to make a turn into the entrance to the Lewisburg bridge, across the Susquehanna River, and the car crashed into the abutment.

Judge Watson and his wife sailed for a trip abroad last night. It was reported here, and have not yet learned of the death of their son.

Judge Lindley's opinion was drafted today at the request of the United States attorney's office here.

Township School House On Highland Avenue Is Damaged By Fire

Forty pupils of Fairview school, Neshaunock township, one-story wooden schoolhouse added six days to their Christmas vacation today as a result of a fire which was checked by New Castle firemen under the direction of Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman, after a battle with flames early this morning.

Damage to the building, located near the end of the Highland avenue street car line, was estimated by firemen at $600. City firemen of No. 2, and B truck companies responded following receipt of a telephone call at 4 a. m. today.

Overheated Stove

Fire is believed by firemen to have started from an overheated coal stove, which stood in the center of the one-room school. Flames burned a section on the floor, continued to the south wall of the frame structure and also did damage to the roof before the firemen had the fire under control. The B truck booster and chemicals were employed.

School desks were left practically undamaged. Forty children were taught studies of the first eight grades in the schoolhouse. The children were to start on the Christmas vacation next Wednesday, but due to the fire, which left their school uninhabitable, began their vacation until the new year this morning.

The youth, Colby Easterbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Easterbrook of Grove City, left his home Sunday night, after slamming down his algebra book and declaring to his mother, "Aw, I'm going to quit school and get a job," according to his father.

After discovering jobs were not as plentiful as he had suspected, Colby yesterday appeared in a bread line-up. The food checker identified the boy through a photograph.

Through an error of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, The News carried a story on December 15, to the effect that the driver's license of Elmer P. Taylor, of No. 8 Katherine Street, had been revoked. Mr. Taylor protested that his license had not been taken away, and that he had not been arrested for any crime which could result in revocation.

A telegram to Harrisburg seemed to bear out the previous statement of the bureau, but still unsatisfied, The News wired Benj. G. Eynon, Registrar of Motor Vehicles. Mr. Eynon has answered the telegram with the following "revocation" E. P. Taylor in error, correct person resides in Pittsburgh."

It is to be regretted that the story appeared as it did. However, The News was not responsible for the error, as the bulletins of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles are assumed to be correct.

Councilmen convened formally in city hall today decided to add five more policemen to the city force, at once. The men will go on duty Saturday night, according to Mayor Gillespie, who by virtue of his office, is police superintendent.

According to the mayor the men will be selected today by Police Chief Cy Horner. It was intimated that former police officers, owing to their experience would be given the preference. They will be furnished with information regarding suspects and will be placed on night duty.

The tri-state district has been torn by crime during the past week and in New Castle last night four homes were entered, several burglaries being committed. The mayor told council that a fifth attempt to rob was made and when council met a recommendation from Police Chief Horner was read.

The recommendation requested council to add three men to the department. Councilmen Reeves and Genkinger expressed the opinion that the move would be appropriate (Continued On Page Two)

You can celebrate Christmas in isles that are sunny, or down where the tropical sun always shines, you can celebrate Christmas where ice doesn't visit, where winter's approach is not looked for by signs. You can celebrate Christmas where flowers are blooming, and have a good time at it, too, but I know, the way to enjoy it and really remember, it's Christmas is here where we say it with snow. It doesn't seem just like the season, in sunshine, we have to have bells and the crunching of frost, we have to have sleds and some noses of cherry, or part of the season of Christmas is lost. You can celebrate Christmas in isle that are sunny, where flowers are bright and the skies azure blue, but give me the snowy and blustery weather, it seems more like Christmas, it's just forty two.

Few Refusals To Dig Coal By Needy Persons Of City

One Man Who Said He "Didn't Have To Dig Coal" Asks
Aid This Morning

Out of nearly one thousand men who have made application at the county poor department for coal, only about three have refused to dig their own coal out at the brick pits grounds, according to Poor Director M. B. Hogue.

This morning a call came to the office from the Scotia street fire department, saying that a man who lived on that street was out of coal and would like to have a load. County Commissioner Calvin C. Boyd answered the phone and upon learning the name of the man told the department to tell him to look elsewhere for his coal. The reason for this was that the man was one of the three who had refused to dig his own coal, informing the officials that he "didn't have to dig coal." He is an able bodied man and has been out of work. When an able bodied man refuses to accept work when it is offered, the poor department does not believe that it is under obligations to assist him.

According to Poor Director Hogue, there is still plenty of coal to be dug at the brick plant. Any person who is out of work and able to dig, will be given an opportunity by making application to the department. The department hauls the coal for those who cannot secure any means of conveyance.

During the past few days the number of diggers has been dwindling, many of the needy already having dug all the coal necessary to see them through the winter.

Mr. J. Alois Stooke was quite an investor in stocks and bonds. He had one broken with whom he dealt. One day he instructed this broker to buy and sell certain stocks, some of which Mr. Stooke had in his possession. The broker accepted the order and engaged in buying and selling for some time. Meanwhile Mr. Stooke died and his estate went into the hands of an executor. Soon after that the broker decided to close the account, complete the mutual deliveries and receive the balance which the transactions left in his favor. But when he presented his statement to the executor of the estate it was not allowed. The executor regarded the entire dealings as gambling and refused to settle, whereupon the broker sued.

Wouldn't it be a bad idea for Chief Horner to issue an order for New Castle police to "shoot to kill" bandits. New Castle has been fortunate in having fewer big robberies than most cities in the district lately, but one can never tell when they may ride this direction. In the meantime, the police should be prepared.

One more week from today, and we'll all be back on the job with that "morning after the night before" feeling.

Next Monday will be the first day of winter, the winter solstice occurring, December 22 at 8:40 a. m. Judging from the weather of the past week, winter didn't pay any attention to the calendar however.

With Christmas just around the corner, lots of ordinarily naughty little boys and girls are trying awfully hard to be good.

According to statistics of the state department of health, there was a great decrease in all causes of death except typhoid fever and automobile accidents. Seems like people will always take chances with an automobile.

Every night is like Saturday night downtown. The stores are all open late in the evening and the shoppers are taking advantage of it by rounding up presents for dad, mother, sister, brother.

Major Lynn Adams, head of the state police, urges bankers to take precautions in guarding their funds. Nothing would deter a band of bandits like an armed guard, and Pa News knows several husky ex-convicts, who have had experience in such work, who are looking for a job.

A considerable number of the Coaltown children got an extra vacation, due to the fire that damaged their school building, early this morning. Most of the children started for school, not knowing that the little school had been afire.

Tomorrow will be one of the biggest shopping days of the entire Christmas season. Roads are in good condition and many from the surrounding townships will be in the city shopping.

Police officers will have to resume their target practice, in order to be prepared for the warfare against holdup men and bandits in this city.

There certainly should be no one overlooked that is in need during the holiday season. Scores of organizations have joined in the campaign to take care of the needy. Most every needy family should have a private organization looking to their comfort, if all of the clubs, classes, etc., make good on their plans to extend aid to some family this holiday season.

One of the peculiarities of the weather conditions at the present time is that the roads are dusty. Some of the highways are as dusty as in the heat of summer.

According to report the Cement Dam, near the Radiator works is in perfect condition for ice skating. Quite a number of people liking the sport are to be found there.

The municipal Christmas tree was standing in the public square plot today and decorators were getting ready to trim it. A myriad of multi-colored lights will illuminate it at night. Over at the Pennsy depot another beautiful tree was being trimmed.

Noticed a skim of ice over the Shenango river still remained today. Evidently the water isn't as full of acid as it usually is, for it's been frozen at different times this year.

One express office today handled a huge crate of Florida oranges, sent here by some southern resident to a friend in the city. Two large boxes of Alabama holly was also received for delivery here.

Pedestrians who were walking along Mercer and Washington streets at 11:15 this morning, were treated to a shower of soot, which played havoc with light clothing. Flashes of soot as big as quarters came down in the shower, when a chimney in one of the big buildings near the corner burned out.

More 1931 auto license tags are appearing on local machines, Pa News observes. Only two more weeks remain for motorists to make application and receive their tags. The Highway Department plans stringent enforcement of the law, requiring all motorists to display the 1931 tags after the first of the year.

TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DAMAGED BY FIRE

The teacher of Fairview school who was in New Castle this morning at the home of a sister, said she saw the ruins of the fire today and praised city firemen for their effective work.

Whether the building will be repaired soon in order to accommodate the township grade school pupils could not be learned from members of the Neshannock township school board. Some of the members had not heard of the fire, and R. S. Dinsmore, the chairman of the board could not be located.

It is believed that if the school is not ready for classes by the end of the holiday vacation children will be sent to the Neshannock public school at Walpole.

It is the second time that the same building was saved from flames by New Castle firemen. About 18 years ago, a horse driven fire apparatus from the city was rushed to save the schoolhouse from another fire.

They managed to get a line to the launch and two women and a man were hauled aboard their small rowboat, which swamped with the added weight. One woman, they said, sank at once. Ornburn Gray tried to swim ashore with the other woman but lost his grip on her when he was dashed against the rocks.

It is not known who will be appointed to or what section of the city the men will be ordered. It is hinted however, that every residential section of the city will be protected. Men who are employed will be furnished with information regarding the persons suspected of participating in crime here.

"The depression of 1921 was worse than this present depression," added Davis. "At that time unemployment was at an even more critical stage than it is now—and yet we came out of it to an even greater prosperity—and so the United States of America will come out of this one."

Whatever it may contain doesn't matter now because it already has caused enough consternation for a Christmas gift. If it shows the least signs of enclosing a nefarious machine the recipient will throw it into a bucket of water.

The attraction and cause of suspicious gazes in Alderman W. E. Marshall's office is a strange wooden box on a window ledge. Its neatly planned sides are nailed tight and sandpapered. And it carries this legend typewritten on a sticker:

"Not to be opened until late Christmas Eve or Christmas morning. Disobey at your own risk. Santa Claus Headquarters, Bradock, Pa."

STAR LORE

LOCATION OF STARS WITH RESPECT TO THE CELESTIAL EQUATOR

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

North or south latitude on the celestial sphere is known as north or south declination, starting from the celestial equator, there being 90 degrees from the celestial equator to the celestial poles. Direction from the celestial equator is expressed as declination north or declination south. It is interesting to note that the star farthest west in the belt of Orion—called Delta Orionis—is on the celestial equator; also that Rigel, the brilliant white star in the left foot of Orion, is nearly 10 degrees of declination south, but Betelgeuse, the giant red star in the right shoulder of Orion, is roughly 8 degrees of declination north.

CONGRESS SEEKING RELIEF ENACTMENT PRIOR TO HOLIDAYS

completed. It appeared a holiday had been declared on Partisan politics to assure a longer Christmas holiday.

The compromise $45,000,000 drought bill, which Senator George W. Norris, insurgent leader, helped to negotiate, will be promptly approved by both house and senate.

The conferees eliminated outright food loans, as desired by the president, but inserted a phrase permitting loans for "other purposes incident to crop production," which may include the purchase of food. The total fund represented a half-million compromise between the $60,000,000 passed by the senate and the $30,000,000 fund approved by the house. It satisfied both ends of the capitol.

Fresh Controversy.

The $116,000,000 public works bill may develop fresh controversy, although opposing factions were talking compromise as the senate and house conferees met to arbitrate. There was accord on all provisions of the bill, except one calling for local labor and payment of local wage scales on all new projects, and other advancing funds to Georgia and Alabama to rebuild roads, destroyed by floods.

The main issue between the White House and congress was eliminated when the senate receded from its earlier action in placing a ban on President Hoover's power to interchange appropriations between war-torn and road projects. "The president's unexpected victory on this issue was due to Democratic and insurgent support. The result pacified all factions."

ALDERMAN GETS MYSTERY CHRISTMAS PACKAGE AND IS WARNED NOT TO OPEN

Whatever it may contain doesn't matter now because it already has caused enough consternation for a Christmas gift. If it shows the least signs of enclosing a nefarious machine the recipient will throw it into a bucket of water.

The attraction and cause of suspicious gazes in Alderman W. E. Marshall's office is a strange wooden box on a window ledge. Its neatly planned sides are nailed tight and sandpapered. And it carries this legend typewritten on a sticker:

"Not to be opened until late Christmas Eve or Christmas morning. Disobey at your own risk. Santa Claus Headquarters, Bradock, Pa."

The package wrapper was postmarked in Swissvale, Pa. Alderman Marshall, if not in a quandary doesn't know what it's all about. So he sits and studies at the wooden box with its threat.

EPIDEMIC OF ROBBERIES IN EAST SIDE THURSDAY

P. Boyd, 924 Winslow avenue, where the robber was seen and a description secured. It was the last place of all those reported to the police, where the robber visited last night.

Mr. Boyd was asleep and his wife was attending a little social affair at the home of A. M. Boyd, next door. Mrs. Boyd returned to her home some time after 10 o'clock for the purpose of securing something they wished to use at the other place.

When she attempted to unlock the rear door to get in, she discovered that there was another key on the inside that interfered with the unlocking of the door. Finally she knocked the key out and it fell to the floor inside. She was then able to unlock the door and go in.

When she gained an entrance, she heard someone walking upstairs. Thinking it possible that her husband had gotten up for some reason, she called out "Bill, Bill," that being the name of her husband.

The result was rather startling to her, as the robber came rushing down the stairs and went out the front door, closing it. She was enabled to get a fleeting glimpse of the robber, whom she describes as being rather good looking, tall and wearing a long light colored overcoat.

Somewhat frightened she returned hurriedly to the scene of the party and the police were called. Officers Augustine, Dukes and Gollis answered the call. The key used by the burglar was found lying on the kitchen floor by Officer Augustine and is now at the police station. Apparently nothing of value was secured here, as nothing was missing.

Entered Early.

The home of C. A. Wasson, 919 Adams street, was entered between 8 and 10 o'clock, during the absence of the members of the household. Officers answering the call to that place found that entrance had been gained by means of a skeleton key used on the front door.

Many articles of value were missing here, including a ladies black onyx cameo ring with a pink and white setting about the edge, valued at $38.50, ladies Bulova wrist watch, valued at three dollars, a pair of new ladies' silk hose, two suits of new ladies' silk underwear, a white silk slip.

Discovery was also made that a window had been raised during the night at the home of Charles A. Brunton, 921 Adams street, next door to the Wasson home where the robbery occurred. It was not a successful attempt, as far as is known, because nothing of value had been found there.

D. R. Moore, 1031 Bedford street, reported during the night that while the people residing in that place were away from home between 7 and 9 p. m., that some unknown person entered the place and stole a ladies' white gold octagon wrist watch.

The home of James A. Edmundson, 939 Bedford street, was entered about 9:30 o'clock. The police found evidence of an attempt to jimmy a window, which evidently occurred prior to a successful attempt at entering by the rear door, which was evidently the way the robber also left. Nothing of value could be found missing there.

These numerous calls caused a busy time about the police department and kept the department on the jump for a time, due to the numerous cases reported.

residence. The carton of numbers, the collection slips, the money and the paraphernalia were all confiscated and in the hands of the county detective, Mico provided $1500 bail before Alderman Green.

Get Bonded Liquor

During the raid of the numbers, the officers searched the house for liquor. For some time the search revealed nothing in the way of beverage until Lee noticed more than the usual number of hot air registers in the rooms. One of them gave out no heat and reaching down he pulled the register out. Pints of bonded liquor were found cached there. In another room another false register brought forth more pints, the total being two and a half cases of bonded liquor. Anna Achenito, who resides at 910 South Mercer street was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor and also gave $1500 bail before Alderman Green.

The raid was made by County Detective Lee, Assistant County Detective, B. J. Rocks, and State Policemen Henechek and Richards.

"Mystery Woman" Baffles Official

Commission To Pass Upon The Sanity Of Woman Now
In County Jail

Commission in lunacy will be summoned today to examine Della Myers, a mystery woman in the county jail. The mystery connected with her case is who she is and where she came from. She has been roaming about this city and Ellwood City for several weeks.

She was picked up by the poor department while in Ellwood City and placed in the county home. Soon after she crawled out of a window and left. Later she was again picked up, sent to the home and again left.

Poor Director M. B. Hogue endeavored to get some data regarding her from a trunk and suit case, which she had with her, but there was nothing that would give a clue. Sometimes she says that her name is Della Myers and at other times she says it is Riner.

She claims to have had two sons who were killed in the World War, but refuses to tell where they were enlisted or anything about them. She says that she is 51 years of age, but looks older.

Sheriff Johnston has been having considerable trouble with her and it is necessary to keep her in a padded cell. It is likely that she will be sent to an asylum after the commission has made an examination.

FATHERS AND SONS ENJOY BANQUET

The ladies of the Missionary Society served the banquet, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. D. W. Nesbit. Music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra. Mrs. Stanley Reese sang a beautiful Christmas solo.

Earl Reebel acted as toastmaster, introducing the speakers with well chosen witticisms. A toast to the sons was given by B. G. Coates, who gave wise and inspiring counsel to the boys. Morton Hofmeister responded for the sons, giving a clever alliteration on the word FATHER.

An able address was given by Ellis C. Reno. The pastor George M. Landis then gave a stereotyped lecture on the prodigal son, followed by the song "America," illustrated by lantern slides. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Bert E. Williams, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ellwood City who gave a forceful and graphic present day application of the parable of the Good Samaritan, which was greatly appreciated by all.

An interesting feature was the presentation of a large birthday cake to the president of the class, George Fox, by Mrs. Fox. Tasteful and tasty favors were furnished by the Kande Shoppe and by W. G. Davis. The coffee was furnished by John Louer. Singing was led by John W. Owens with Miss Elizabeth Owens at piano.

At 6:30 o'clock a delicious menu was served after which each child was presented with a gift, candy and oranges. The table was beautifully decorated with a lighted Christmas tree and other ornaments. Games were later participated in.

The success of the affair is due the efforts of the committee in charge which includes the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Sheppard, Bertha Sherman, Myrna Heasley, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mr. Moore and E. C. Gatrall. Later in the evening the class held their annual election of officers, with the following results:—president, Russell H. Shields; vice-president, E. T. McKee; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Moore, and correspondent, Myrna Heasley.

The club favor was given to Mrs. Victor Colocolo.

The ladies had Mrs. Joseph Leta as their special guest.

Later, the exchange of presents took place, and a dainty repast served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Nicholas brought the meeting to a close. Mrs. Maria Frabotta will be the next hostess, the date to be announced later.

Ten Ivory Club.

Mrs. George Ross was hostess to the Ten Ivory club in her home on East Lutton street, Thursday evening, at their regular meeting. A business session opened the activities when the election of the following officers occurred: Mrs. Mary Maciariello, president; Elizabeth Tardelli, secretary and treasurer; Phyllis Aicone, reporter.

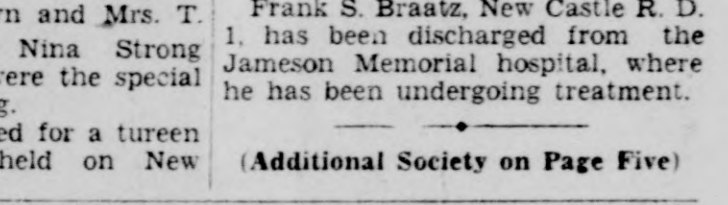

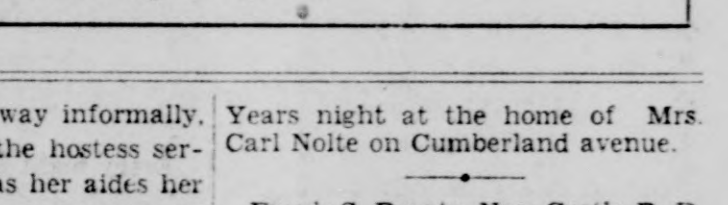

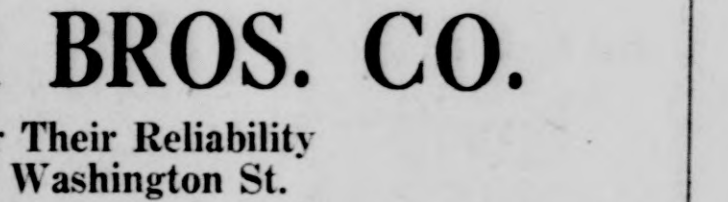

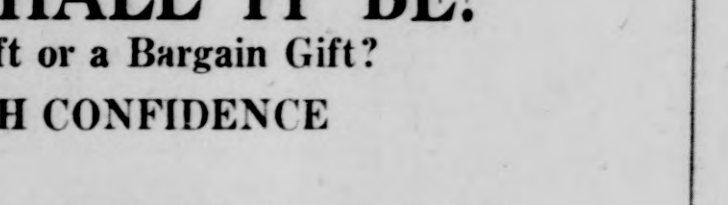

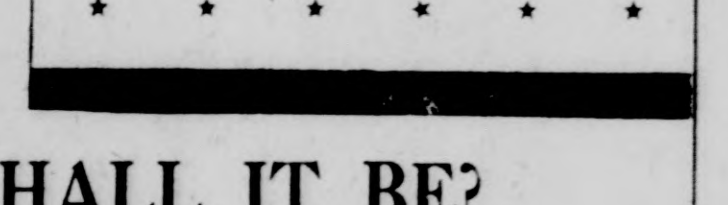

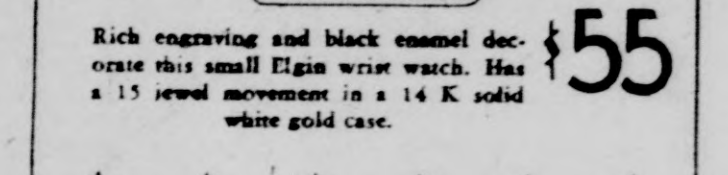

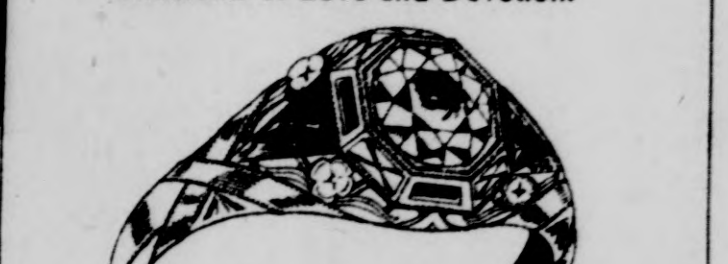

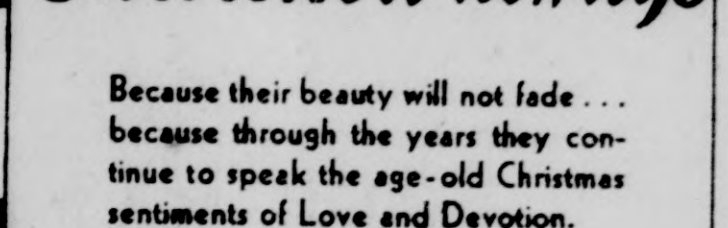

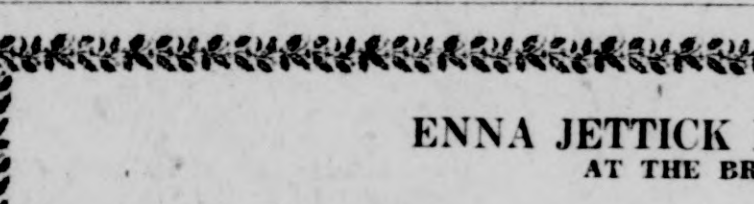

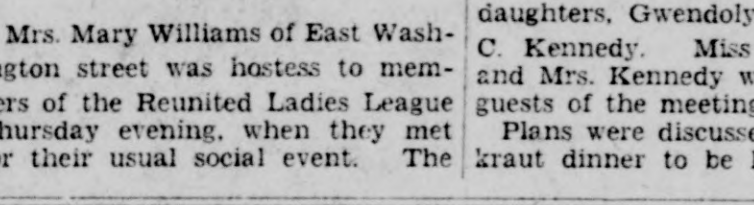

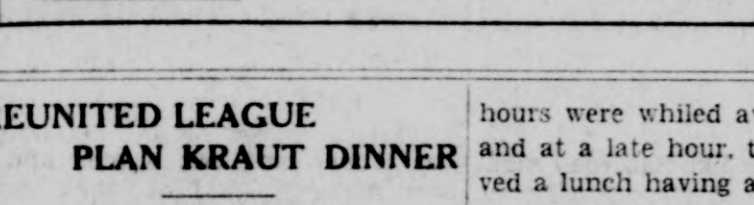

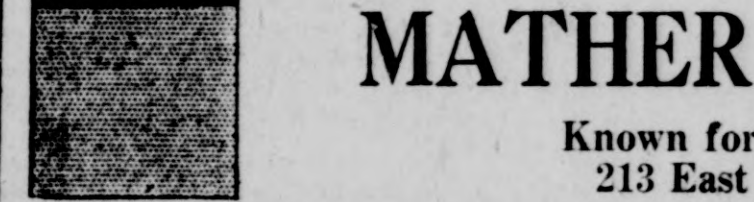

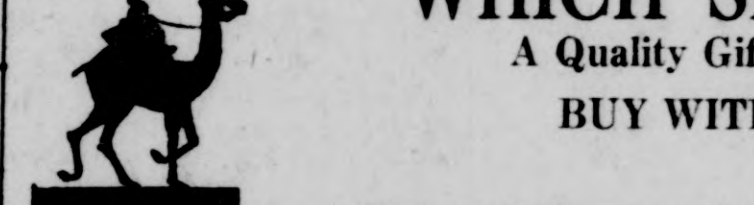

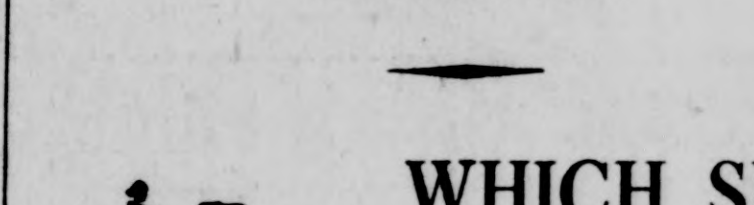

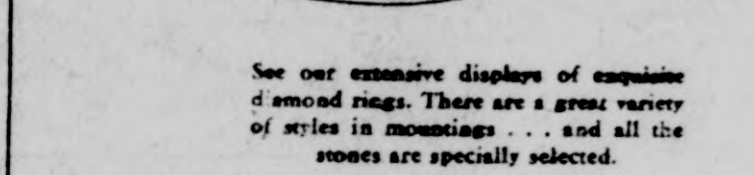

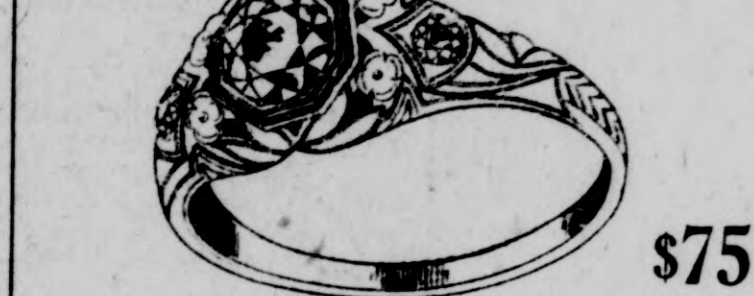

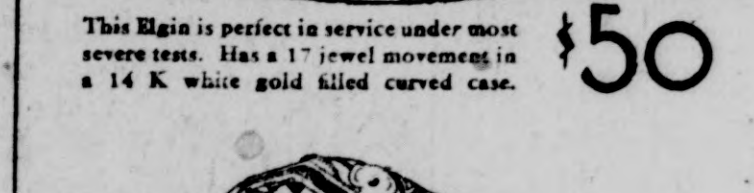

A social hour was later enjoyed, when gifts were exchanged, and a dainty lunch served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Paul Lombardo. The prize for the evening was won by Miss Martha Aicone.

On Tuesday, December 30 the club will be entertained by Mrs. Anthony Ciaella and Miss Martha Aicone at their home on East Lutton street.

Sawalla Club

Members of the Sawalla Club entertained at their annual Christmas celebration in the form of a dinner and theatre party event Thursday afternoon. After being served a menu at the Patio at 1 o'clock they exchanged Christmas presents. A theatre party was later enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be on January 8 and Mrs. Carl Holmes of Miller avenue will be hostess on this occasion.

MELLON STICKS

BUSINESS and finance took new hope and proceeded with greater confidence upon receipt of the news that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will stick to the Hoover ship until the end of the administration. Mr. Mellon may not be the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton, but that he is the one man for the job at hand is unquestioned.

Andrew Mellon is the popular choice because the people and business have implicit confidence in him, which is a qualification a secretary of the treasury should have above all others. There may be many financial heads as good as his, but the public does not think so.

Were Secretary Mellon not a strong character with complete faith in himself, he might prefer to step out of the cabinet at this time rather than stay to struggle with inevitable deficits and the other financial troubles confronting the government. It would be the easiest way. He chooses to stay and fight.

No peace-time treasury head has handled as much money as the incumbent and none has managed his country's finances with greater satisfaction to the taxpayers. His practice of taking advantage of every drop in interest rates on short loans has saved the country millions of dollars and his stewardship has demonstrated efficiency in many ways.

Few things would be more calculated to disturb business and destroy confidence than the retirement of Secretary Mellon at this time. It is very doubtful if President Hoover would accept his resignation if it were tendered.

EASY TO BELIEVE

That people believe what they want to believe is a thought bequeathed to this age by many philosophers and commentators. It has come down through the decades and is as patent today as ever in the time of Julius Caesar, who twice in his writing refers to this idiosyncrasy of human nature. Shakespeare expressed it best in that proverb, "Thy wish is father to the thought."

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, Cleveland oracle of business, has just demonstrated this in its relation to prosperity and depression. Two years ago he was called a marplot and pessimist when he gave utterance to the conviction that the country was being swept into the maelstrom of a business depression of major proportions. The public, a large part of it riding on the crest of a wave of securities inflation, didn't believe him because it did not want to believe what he said.

Today people are willing and eager to believe him. Not because he proved a true prophet two years ago, but because he is now predicting a change for the better for which everyone is most keen. He considers the bottom of the depression already plumbed and sees the nation slowly moving toward full and lasting recovery.

Whatever the reasons the emotional have for turning now to the prophet upon whom they turned their backs two years ago, his reading of the business barometer deserves more consideration from the rational because of the fulfillment of that other prophecy.

SECTIONALISM

Undoubtedly one of the most significant industrial trends in contemporary America is the southward movement of the textile and other industries. And, like all important economic changes, it is bringing in its train many and complicated social problems which will never be solved by merely ignoring, or resenting their existence.

Industrialization of the South is fulfilling a long-chestered wish of all Southerners, who have envied the wealth and growth it brought the North and West. But they had not counted on the labor troubles and social evils it has brought them.

The nation is feeling the effects of this migration of industry. It is depopulating New England towns and cities, robbing long established railroads and waterways of their business, and creating needs for new transportation facilities in other parts of the country, forcing wholesale migrations of labor and capital, disrupting the distribution system and ordering drastic revision of fuel and power maps. Another effect will be reflected in the approaching reapportionment of representation in congress.

Would it not be well, if industry and agriculture could be apportioned more evenly among sections into which this vast country is divided, or into which congressmen and issues have divided it? It would put an end to the strife which comes from one section asking for industrial preference and another needing and demanding agricultural preference. While progress is being made in that direction, it is feared that this must ever be a country divided against itself.

WHY HE COULDN'T PAY HIS RENT

A new method of explaining his inability to pay a rent bill was adopted by a tenant who sent the following letter to the landlord, a member of the Building Owners and Managers Association:

I wish to inform you that the present shattered condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request.

My present financial condition is due to effects of Federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, by-laws, brother-in-laws, mother-in-laws and outlaws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public.

Through these various laws I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am, or why I am.

These laws compel me to pay a merchant's tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, auto tax, gas tax, water tax, light tax, cigar tax, street tax, school tax, syntax and carpet tax.

In addition to those taxes I am requested and required to give to every society and organization that the inventive mind of men can organize. To the Society of St. John the Baptist, The Women's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policemen's Benefit, the Dorcas Society, the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts, the Jewish Relief, the Near East, the Gold Digger's Home, also every hospital and every charitable institution in town, the Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, the Purple Cross and the Double Cross.

The Government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, commanded and compelled, until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire, or hope of the human race, and because I refuse to donate to all and go out and beg, borrow or steal money to give away, I am cursed and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed, until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what is coming next.

THE WEAK MEN

He fusses around home. He loses his temper there, very easily. Everything must be just so, or he goes to pieces. He scolds his children. He nags at his wife, and sulks when she doesn't please him. He blows up if his socks has holes in them, or if his shirt has a button off and announces to the whole household that it's a shame. His feelings are easily hurt—at home—and he lets everybody know about it. The children don't tell him things, they hide themselves from him.

Poor fellow! He isn't a Big Shot outside of his home so he wants to be important there. He isn't doing the kind of work he wants to do or he isn't doing his work as well as it should be done. He doesn't feel adequate in the world of other men and he wants to make up for it somehow. But he doesn't exactly know how! So he takes it out on the family.

Sometimes his family is sorry for him. Sometimes it hates him though none of them ever tells him so. He knows his children and his wife aren't enthusiastic about him, but he doesn't know how to handle the situation except by being a Family Bully. And that doesn't work either. I heard, the other day, of a boy whose one ambition until he was eighteen years old was to be big enough to lick his old man. Did he lick his old man when he was big enough? No, when he got that big he was sorry for his father and wouldn't lay a hand on him. And that's not such an uncommon situation, either.

Why are some fathers so foolish? I don't know. But I do know they'd be happier if it occurred to them just once that though they can't be Big Shots elsewhere, at least they can be LOVED in their own homes. They can't dominate on the job, but they can dominate through affection in their families. I've known men like that. They never made much money, they were never more than a few dollars away from the bread line, but mother and the kids were always glad when father came home. He was One of the Bunch and not a petty tyrant. So they loved him and he was a success. And I guess any man can be that kind of success if he wants to be, and will set his mind to it and work at it, and remember that it's a sign of weakness and not of strength—to be a Family Bully.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ONE LITTLE THING

There are more ways of learning a livelihood than merely sticking around the place waiting for someone higher up to die.

A graduate of Oxford University recently went to work for a railroad, beginning at the bottom. He started as a porter, and later became a ticket agent. This sort of work became intolerable, and he resigned. But the company had been impressed with the young man and offered him a salary of $3,000 a year if he could think at least once a year of some money saving scheme.

The youth accepted the job, and after a week of heavy thinking suggested that the final letter "R" in the expression "R. R." be omitted from the group of initials painted on the company's rolling stock.

His suggestion was adopted and resulted in a saving of $35,000 yearly.

Waiting for Inspiration

Are you waiting for the "inspiration" that never comes?

Are you expecting a great "urge" some time that will revolutionize your whole life and make you a world beater?

You have heard of inspirations of the moment, great ideas that came suddenly and lighted the horizon in such a wonderful way that the one receiving it pressed on to great success.

This made a great impression on you, and you are waiting for one.

You want an incentive to proceed. People who accomplish great things don't stand idle awaiting an all-powerful, irresistible command to proceed along a certain line.

This idea that "some time I am going to do" has been a thought that some folk have carried all their lives, to no purpose.

Back in your mind you have had a big idea many years.

You have felt it was safe and would not be presented by any one else to your detriment.

Some one may go you one better in an idea, and what then?

Don't wait till another makes your idea look sick.

"Inspiration" is very illusive.

World Shares With Belgium Concern Over Deaths In Fog

Mystery Stories Which Accompany Visitation Rival Ancient History And Products Of Imaginative Writers Of Fiction

Americans have shared with Belgium and neighboring parts of Europe a deep interest in numerous deaths which occurred while a heavy fog spread over the industrial district in the neighborhood of Liege and Meuse valley. While various explanations are offered, and the theory has been advanced that hysteria contributed to the record of fatalities, the incident has turned scientific attention to the need of studying the effect of gases in the atmosphere.

"Imagination is stirred by the reports," says the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, suggesting that "men die in fear of things they cannot understand." The News quotes Belgian medical authorities to the effect that the victims, with few exceptions, "were persons more than 50 years old who had suffered from heart ailments and chronic bronchial affections." The BALTIMORE SUN, conceding that the fog "was so unprecedentedly dense, cold and penetrating as to cause death to persons already afflicted with respiratory ailments," adds: "Even the skeptic is unsettled by the mention of the Black Death by a scientist. The phrase itself is terrifying, and the assurances of science that all these seeming mysteries and scourges have an explicable origin, if only one is smart enough to find the explanation, leave one cold as the swift and sudden pestilence claims its victims."

"The fact that the victims suffered from parched and burning throats," according to the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "indicates that some sort of toxic substance must have been suspended in the air, a view confirmed by the circumstances that the deaths were most numerous in the neighborhood of certain factories." According to the theory that there was gas "generated at the many industrial plants along the Meuse river," the SEATTLE DAILY TIMES concludes: "Whatever the nature of the Belgian fog, it seems fairly certain that it is not a new disease nor a return of any well-known pestilence. No doubt the explanation of it will be found in the Meuse valley and in no other place."

"Such a story," thinks the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT, "stirs the hearts of every land, even if it has its own troubles, finds that it is not alone in them, but that here and there, from time to time, come visitations which call not only for sympathy but oftentimes for the helping hand." The incident, in the opinion of the RACINE JOURNAL-NEWS, "serves to show that science and education have not completed their conquest of superstition and mob emotions. Civil

Examiners Of Red Cross Must Renew Certificates Now

Application Blanks Are Being Sent Life Savers And First Aid Instructors

Local examiners of the American National Red Cross, both Life Saving and First Aid, must renew their certificates for the coming year, in order to be eligible to conduct examinations. Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter stated today.

Application blanks have been mailed most of the examiners and instructors from the National headquarters, which must show that the applicant has concluded examinations during the past year.

Those who have not been active will be required to take examinations to renew their certificates.

This is one of the active branches of the local chapter's work, a fine corps of life savers and first aid instructors and examiners having been built up during the past few years.

GIRL SCOUTS GIVING HELP

Troops Of City Are Filling Baskets And Lending Services To Needy

Girl Scout troops of New Castle are certainly doing their share in helping needy families of this city. Practically all of the troops are preparing baskets, donating clothing or money to help these people.

Troop 6, the Minnehaha troop that meets at the city building, is going to furnish Christmas dinners for two families.

Troop 7, of the First Baptist church, is taking care of a family also.

Troop 2 of the Highland church donated clothing.

Troop 4 or the Third U. P. church is planning a Christmas party on Saturday morning and will fill baskets for the poor.

This last troop also dressed a number of dolls for and donated some dolls to the Carnegie Steel company.

This is by no means a complete list of troops helping by material gifts and by services, but it goes to show the work being done.

Peter's Adventures

Peeping over the hill crest, Peter saw that a wrestling match had followed the execution. The Black Ant general, who had tried to give her life for her Queen's and failed, was clinging to the general of the Reds, who had challenged her. Evidently the Redskins were good sports, for they were laying bets as to which ant would win, and not all of them were choosing their own general.

"Just watch that Black Ant," a Redskin cried. "She is clinging so tightly to our general's legs that our general can't move them. Hah! What a bite that was!"

"And how she kicks and scratches. A worthy foe, if ever there was one. I'll bet a hemp seed Black Ant wins! Who'll wager against me? Who'll take my bet? Come, now, here's a chance to get some food for nothing."

"I'll bet with you, comrad," answered a second Redskin. "But it will be you, not I who will lose the hemp seed. Black Ant can't win against our general. Look how powerful our general is! How sharp her mandibles! It won't be long now before she will have put an end to our Black foe. The struggle is nearly over. I'll lay two hemp seeds to your one on my favorite."

Two by two the Redskins bet on the victor, and hearing them, Peter was surprised.

"The Redskins don't seem to care who comes out first. All that they are thinking about is the fun they themselves are having."

Sleeping Beauty Next On Program

Children Of Library Club Anxious To Present Famous Tale As Playlet

Debut performances of the young members of the free public library Blue Star club in the playlet "Cinderella" presented some time ago was so very successful that the young actors and actresses are going to try their hands at "Sleeping Beauty."

This little playlet will be directed by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, and will be presented in a couple of weeks from now. On Saturday, the boys and girls who were chosen to take the various parts in the presentation will gather at the library for a short practice.

Cast was selected on Tuesday evening at a meeting of the blue star possessors. There were 26 of them there and the cast will consist of over 20 children.

The youngsters are very anxious to get to work and they have flooded Miss Joyce with hopeful suggestions as to how each character should look and act. One little boy believes that several of the members should take the parts of the two little pigeons that are asleep on a window sill, in one scene.

County Federation Of Women's Clubs

Federated woman, encircling the earth,

We admire thy courage, we acknowledge thy worth.

No selfish motive lies within.

We see reflected in thy love

The spark of One divine.

And He shall be thy pattern.

Loving, pure and good.

And life shall be the sweeter

Because of Womanhood.

Such is a tribute paid to the Federation of Women's Clubs by a federated woman of Frankfort, Pa.

To put womanhood to work in the wake of usefulness motives, with the courage that is characteristic of woman when once she has seen the need for her labors, is to set in motion the most potent factor for civil righteousness.

The urge that is back of the appeal from General Federation headquarters for the federated women of our land to make persistent efforts to understand every phase of proposed legislation that will develop or hinder welfare work, voices confidence in the power of women when it is corralled in a direct effort for needed legislation.

There is much of such legislation pending today in both the state and the nation. The eyes of the women should be upon it in alert watchfulness.

Every Pennsylvania woman should be very much alive to the proposed legislation for her own state for its magnitude is appalling when its far-reaching effects if passed is considered or how much may be lost if doomed to failure.

Legislation is sought in Pennsylvania for the protection of rights of workers, under four important measures, for economic security of workers, with such proposals as "old age pensions," "unemployment insurance," "workman's compensation"—amendments to present law; for protection for women and children.

In this group especially should the women be cognizant of the need for shorter hours for the working women, for the revision of the child labor act of 1915, for legislation to end the exploitation of children.

Other bills are pending, concerning the death penalty, mental examination of offenders, etc., very many and very important.

Coming before our national congress again is the Jones bill which will provide for carrying on the work of the old Sheppard-Towner act which was a state aid maternity act but expired last July. The passage of the Jones bill will require the federal government to provide $30,000 for each state that appropriates a similar amount for disseminating maternity information and setting up hygienic centers.

"Every child in the United States has a right to be well born. Every mother in the United States has a right to be safeguarded in bearing that child. It is for us to provide means of continuing the work until the United States stands at the head of the nations of the world in safeguarding the health of mothers and babies."—Senator James J. Davis.

That is right. It is just.

The woman power of the nation.

Frick, embodied this message in her Christmas greeting to the club women of the state: "Let us open the little door that leads into the precious land of Christmas, where love is love and beauty is just beauty, and there at the foot of the Manger offer our gifts, such as they are, that they may be used for healing of the nations, that peace and goodwill may rule the world."

HOWLING DOGS TELL OF OWNER'S DEATH

SULLIVAN, Ind. Dec. 19.—The howling of two small dogs belonging to William Edelman, 70, a bachelor living on a farm near here, drew the attention of neighbors.

Investigating, they found Edelman's body lying on the floor.

The dogs were nearly starved to death. A pet cat lay starved on a bed.

Edelman was believed to have died from a heart attack.

A good deal has been written stiltedly and said academically about the growing need for training for leisure, but nobody thought that so many would so soon be eligible to practice these theories.—The Savannah Morning News.

Nye Senate Committee Continues To Examine Davis-Brown Campaign Funds

NEBRASKAN FUND WILL BE PROBED

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Further examination of expenditures in the Davis-Brown primary and election campaign in Pennsylvania estimated at more than $1,000,000, was under consideration today by the Nye senatorial campaign investigating committee.

The committee will also delve into funds spent in Nebraska for the defeat of Sen. Norris (R) of that state. Samuel R. McKelvie, of Nebraska, member of the Federal farm board, has been asked to explain contributions he made to the Nebraska senatorial primary campaign.

With respect to the Pennsylvania campaign, Nye said Samuel Vauclain, treasurer of the Philadelphia Davis-Brown committee, will not be called until the new year. Vauclain will be asked to explain discrepancies between funds he testified before the committee and those revealed by reports to the Pennsylvania secretary of state.

Vauclain admitted total expenditures of $368,000, though the total disclosed at the State House in Harrisburg, was more than $600,000. Additional reports from committee agents, Nye said, bring the total above $1,000,000.

Pool Sharks Are Ordered From Town

Pair Who Came To Grove City For Easy Money, Chased Out By Police

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 19.—"The more you beat them at pool in Grove City the better they like it. Go up there and take them over" is the alleged advice given Roy Casey, 25, of Cincinnati, who with his boy friend Fred Althouse, 18, also of Ohio city, were picked up by Chief Ray and turned over to state police as suspicious characters. After lengthy questioning on the part of the state troopers the pair were told to get out of the county, it is reported today by Corporal Marcus White of the state police.

Casey told police that he is a pool shark financially embarrassed and was advised by the Pittsburgh devotee of the game to go to the college town where he could accumulate a bank roll.

Is There Really A Santa Claus?

Question Asked By Little Girl 33 Years Ago Inspires Answer That Fathers Read To Their Children At Christmastide Each Year—A Letter That Has Become A Classic

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Just 33 years ago, as the mauve decade was drawing to a close and people were beginning to talk about the dawn of the twentieth century, a little girl, living at 115 West Ninety-fifth St., New York, asked her father a question.

"Papa," she queried, "is there really a Santa Claus?"

Her father, who probably was scanning the evening newspaper, smoking his cigar in the red plush, high ceilinged room of the period, was puzzled. He wasn't exactly prepared for that, coming so abruptly as it did from the small daughter playing with her dolls at his side.

"Papa," the child insisted, "Sally and Peggy and Jane say there's no Santa Claus, and I want to know whether it's so."

The doll had slipped to the floor now, a hand was tugging gently at his sleeve, and two bright eyes were gazing querulously into his face. "Well," replied her parent, at last, and seizing upon a way out, "why don't you write to the newspaper about it? If you see it in the Sun, it's so."

Virginia Writes
That night after she had put her dolls to bed Virginia O'Hanlon wrote to Charles Dana, then editor of the New York Sun, and asked him the same question, "Is there a Santa Claus?"

Mr. Dana might have tossed the letter into his wastebasket and forgotten the incident, for the editor of a great city newspaper has many things on his mind. But he didn't. After all his duty to his readers, even the small Virginias of the city demanded that it be answered. He turned to his desk.

Virginia O'Hanlon might be a mother to Virginias of her own now, and the high ceilings and red plush of 115 West Ninety-fifth street probably are faded and worn, if they exist at all, but Virginia's letter and Editor Dana's answer will live on, brought to mind and put into print time and time again as the Christmas season nears each year. A few days later in the columns of the Sun came the reply.

"Dear Editor: I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON
"115 West Ninety-fifth street."
"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

There is! "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to our life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished."

"Not believe in Santa Claus? You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world."

That Mysterious Veil
"You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding."

"No Santa Claus. Thank God! no lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

sufficiently rotund to shoulder this establishment off the chalk-line of indifference.

As a study in cold-blooded, deliberate and wilful complacency in the first degree, it stands without an equal under the stars.

RISE TO FAME.
It requires three months to transform Richard Cromwell into the newest—and one of the youngest—of cinema stars.

Yesterday he was an art student in Los Angeles earning a precarious living by free lance art work. The decorative panels in the Pantages Theatre out there are Cromwell's. That's all right. He had to make a living. Today he's ridin' herd—the latest screen idol of the flappers.

Playing the title role in "Tolable David," he was brought to New York for a personal appearance. His first definite impression of the streets of Tammany Town was got from an open roadster, in which he was exhibited to the gawping crowds. Before him went a sound truck from the amplifiers of which emanated a loud voice admonishing the passers-by to take a good look at Richard Cromwell (who was feeling pretty much abashed in the roadster) and then to go see him at the Mayfair Theatre.

In telling about it later he remarked that one little boy on a street corner had greeted the procession with an emphatic Bronx cheer, and he expressed the opinion that the little boy was showing remarkable judgement.

BRAIN—NOT BRAIN.
The chief piano mover of one of the giant metropolitan hotels is twenty years old and three feet seven inches tall.

His name is John Ravatino and the "piano mover" is a misnomer. As a matter of fact, he merely supervises the work of moving the hotel's fifteen pianos which have to be jugged 200 times a month to meet the demands of the hotel's 70,000 room guests.

"It ain't bulgin' muscles—it's brains that count in this world," says John.

ROOM FOR GENIUS.

If things keep on the way they've been going it'll be up to some sad-eyed genius to start a new fashion column: "What The Hard Pressed Men Will Wear."

Card Of Thanks
We wish to thank the neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy at the death of our husband, son and brother.

Names Long As Banquet Head

Plans To Be Started For National Commander's Visit

THREE COUNTIES TO JOIN IN EFFORT

Major Guy J. Wadlinger, commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion, today announced the appointment of Harry M. Long as general chairman of the National Commander's banquet which will be held here some time early in the year.

In announcing the appointment Commander Wadlinger said, "Mr. Long has handled several previous national commander's banquets, and his splendid service in those, and the experience he has gleaned in handling them, convinces me that he is the man to handle this one."

Just when the National Commander's banquet will be held is not certain as yet. The date must be set to confirm with the commander's itinerary, and this may throw it into late in February or March.

At a recent meeting of the posts in the 26th district, New Castle was asked to assume the responsibility of holding the banquet again because of the success of former years.

Posts from the Beaver Valley, from Ellwood City, and from Butler will co-operate and it is hoped to have the usual large crowd present.

The banquet will be open to the public, this being the annual event which the Legion uses to acquaint the civilian population with the progress of the Legion, nationally, and to have them meet the men who are the head of the organization.

It is hoped that the State Commander will be able to get to the banquet also. Inasmuch as he has not yet paid New Castle a visit, it is thought that he will take this opportunity of coming. District commanders are expected to be present. Plans for the banquet will be announced later by Mr. Long.

Canal Protest Is Made By Fraternal Railroad Divisions

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19—Twelve fraternal divisions of the central region of the Pennsylvania Railroad today were on record with a protest against the proposed Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal.

In a resolution adopted at its meeting here the organization based its opposition on the fact that while the Canal would provide extensive temporary employment for laborers it would eventually necessitate the curtailment of railroad forces and operations.

A resolution protesting the unrestricted use of trucks and buses was also adopted.

Arkansas School Winner Of Annual Award For "Paper"

Pine Bluff, Arkansas, High School Publication Takes Top Ranking

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Competing with papers entered from 16 states, "The Pine Cone," student publication of the Pine Bluff, Ark., High School, today was named winner of the second annual competition for the best secondary school weekly paper in the United States in a contest sponsored by the Red and Black, Washington and Jefferson College weekly.

The winner is a four-page, eight column newspaper and won over its competitors by excellence of its editorials in a contest based on editorials, news value, style and make-up. A silver cup will be awarded the paper.

Four honorable mentions were made by judges of the contest. They went to the "Lincoln Log," Cleveland, O., the "School Spirit," Evansville, Ind., the "Central High Times," St. Paul, Minn., and the "Lincoln News," Tacoma, Wash.

In general, judges found papers entered from midwestern schools were superior to those from other sections.

The competition was a renewal of a contest sponsored last year by the W-J weekly, and won by the "Central High News," of Minneapolis.

from and for the Sunday evening service at 7:30 in the Third United Presbyterian church, David West, director of the choir has chosen "Bethlehem" by Maunders as the presentation of his singers.

The text of the cantata will be illustrated by stereopticon views portraying the scenes surrounding the birth of Jesus. It is arranged in three parts:
1. The shepherds are in the fields, watching their flocks by night, when the angel appears to them, telling the good news that the Saviour is born. The angelic hosts sing His praises.
2. The shepherds and the wise men cross the desert, guided by the star, seeking the new born king.
3. The shepherds and wise men are before the inn at Bethlehem. They enter the stable, find the Mother

Former Greensburg Banker Is Hunted For Embezzlement

Former Secretary-Treasurer Of Greensburg Bank, Found $55,000 Short

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 19.—State police today were working under orders from the State Banking Department in an attempt to locate O. A. Adrian, former secretary-treasurer of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Greensburg, missing since November 18. Adrian is charged with embezzlement and misapplication of funds amounting to $55,000.

Meanwhile, completion of the merger of Barclay Westmoreland Trust Company with the Safe Deposit and Trust Company was expected today. This move, approved by the State Banking Department will involve the absorption of the latter bank with the Barclay Westmoreland, and the guarantee of all deposits of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, bank officials said.

Further charges are expected to be made against Adrian, for whom a warrant is now out, when bank examiners complete their investigation of several loans which Adrian is said to have made in addition to the misapplication and embezzlement of the $55,000.

Investigators have been puzzled by the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case. Available information does not reveal that the secretary-treasurer was engaged in stock-market operations. It was disclosed by state examiners that instead of taking cash from the vaults of the bank, Adrian sold stock of the Safe Deposit to nearby bankers.

MANY AILMENTS BANISHED

Relieved by Ten Herbs After Years of Suffering

Ten Herbs brings renewed health by cleansing and toning up the whole system, and relieving disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

"Ten Herbs not only relieved the pains through my body and limbs, with which I had suffered for many years, but gave me relief from other health troubles," said Mrs. Augusta Prediger, 1203 Morris st., New Castle, Pa. "Sometimes the pains through my body and limbs were so intense that I could hardly get around. After eating my stomach would fill with gas and I was troubled so with indigestion that I really dreaded meal time. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I had headaches all the time. My liver was disordered, causing my skin to be sallow. I had to arise several times at night, which greatly disturbed my rest. A friend recommended Ten Herbs and I started using your medicine. The first bottle gave me great relief. My stomach became normal and now I can digest my food without being troubled with gas, nausea or indigestion. Headaches have stopped and my nerves are greatly improved. There has been a decided improvement in my complexion. I sleep soundly without having to arise. I have been so vastly improved in health that I cheerfully recommend Ten Herbs as a wonderful medicine for building up one's general health. Ten Herbs is sold at Ekerdt's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section."

General F. D. Beary, adjutant-general of the State National Guard, who was unable to attend a dinner here last Wednesday night which had been planned for him, has written Louis B. Round, chairman of the civilian committee of Troop F, explaining his reasons for not coming. He is suffering from a severe attack of neuritis and in addition is endeavoring to get his records brought up to date for the new administration which goes in on January 20th.

The letter to Mr. Round goes on to say that General Beary is delighted with the progress of the troop and congratulates the citizens who have gotten behind the troop activities. In closing he asks that Mr. Round extend his sincere appreciation of the work that has been done, and to assure the citizens here that he is interested in the development of it. Men's Bible Class Aims At 200 Mark

In an effort to pull ahead of the Calvary Baptist Sunday School of Norristown, Pa., Sunday morning, in the contest now being waged between the First Baptist of this city and the Norristown school, the local Sunday School is making an intensive effort to get out a record attendance Sunday. The Men's Bible Class is shooting at the 200 mark, with a record of about 160 out last Sunday.

PAINTED RUGS
"My kitchen linoleum became badly worn in places. So instead of buying new, I took a yardstick and pencil and marked off rug size spaces in front of stove, sink and cabinet. Then with leftover paints and a small brush I painted designs in broken stone effect within the lines already marked. The result was most pleasing and satisfactory" says an ingenious housewife.

Relief Amendment Causes Big Split Between Conferees

Amendment Offered By Senator Couzens To Public Buildings Bill, Unapproved

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Another disagreement between the Senate and House arose today to block speedy enactment of the $116,000,000 public buildings construction bill. After a session of half an hour, Senate and House conferees were unable to agree upon the Couzens amendment to the bill and the conference broke up. The Couzens amendment would provide that contractors awarded work under the bill should employ local labor and at the highest prevailing rate of wages in the district where the work is to be performed. The Senate has approved this amendment, but the House would have none of it. The disagreement will be reported to both Houses this afternoon.

Again Solicit Help In Feeding Game And Birds During Winter

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—When snow covers the ground, and in some sections it is already present, wild life is always in need of food. This year the Game Commission will again solicit the services of all agencies from airplanes to rural mail carries to feed the game birds and animals. Game protectors have been instructed to co-operate and will supply food for any "cafeterias" which are established. Feeding programs should not be conducted haphazardly. Game protectors should be interviewed and the sections ascertained where food is most needed. Scouts have been ever active in this sort of work. School children also have aided in the past, and the rural mail carriers, gathering food from farmers, have been of great aid in carrying it to various stations along the road. There are many who can help in a winter feeding program. Bakeries can furnish thousands of loaves of stale bread. State grain inspectors can contribute many sacks of sample grain. Flour mills, grilling mills, and grain elevators can save all "sweepings." There are other places where food can be secured. The Game Commission has a feeding bulletin available for distribution which shows all kinds of practically feeding stations and furnishes specifications for their erection.

Rev. G. M. Landis Special Lesson

Sunday morning at the Sabbath school session of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, Rev. G. M. Landis, teacher of the class will have as his subject, "The Gift Supreme," a Christmas lesson. The president, George Fox, expects a record attendance of men in the class Sunday morning, as the contest between the local school and the Norristown Baptist school is nearing the end and the local church is a little behind in their percentage in attendance and every member is making an effort to be present Sunday and bring a friend with him.

Directors Are Given Report On Waterways Meet

Chamber Of Commerce Directors Given Impressions Of Many Who Attended

CHAMBER TO PUSH PYMATUNING PROJECT

Members of the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce received an excellent report on the progress being made in the effort to secure slackwater navigation for the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, at their semi-monthly meeting held in the Cas-tleton, Thursday.

The meeting was preceded by the regular luncheon and in addition to a written report from the delegates named by the board to attend the National Rivers and Harbors Congress held in Washington, December 9 and 10, Messrs. E. W. Beadel, C. H. Johnson, Jr., D. O. Davies, A. S. Thomas and J. M. Bevan, gave their impressions of the meetings.

Directors Encouraged

As a result of the reports received, the directors feel very much encouraged over the efforts being made on the project and it is hoped that a favorable report from the U. S. Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors on its preliminary survey, will be made in the near future.

The board of directors extended a vote of thanks to A. S. Thomas for the excellent services rendered the Chamber of Commerce and their representatives who were in Washington in connection with the waterways activities of the chamber. A vote of thanks was also extended Ivor V. Davis and his associates for the excellent manner in which they conducted the Halloween celebration.

A vote was taken on U. S. Referendum No. 57, which is a special committee report on "National Water Power Policies," of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. The action of the board will be forwarded to the national organization immediately.

Reports of progress were received from the committee on bridges spanning streams designated as navigable waterways by the federal government. The matter was referred back to the committee of which H. L. Gordon is chairman.

Push Pymatuning Project.

The need of early construction of the Pymatuning dam as soon as possible was discussed, and the assistance of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was proffered to the Pymatuning dam commission of which F. W. Walker of Beaver Falls, is president, Hon. Fred T. Fruit of Sharon, secretary, and which includes in its membership Fred L. Rents and a number of other citizens of New Castle.

The meeting was presided over by President L. G. Genkinger, and those in attendance in addition, were: Directors W. W. Duff, T. M. Hart-

DINING ROOM IS FURNISHED IN FEDERAL STYLE

The period in United States history between 1790-1825 was an interesting one, political and otherwise. The furniture produced then is generally classified as federal. The pride felt for the new republic was exemplified in the stars and eagles which figure as ornaments, and there was also ex-white and Sheraton in England and Louis XVI and Directoire in France.

Harmony without consistency might characterize the furnishings of this period. A dining room furnished in federal style is pictured. The American eagle over the bull's-eye mirror gives the keynote to the room. The mantel is of black marble set against a white wood panel. The table is Duncan Phyfe, the chairs American empire, the sideboard Hepplewhite, all in mahogany. Old Waterford glass candelabra are the proper pieces for the sideboard. A directoire side table holds two-branched silver candelabra.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE

Border Service Unable To Fight Air Smugglers

Planes Soar Over Heads Of Helpless Immigration Authorities

NEED AIR FORCE TO COMBAT METHOD

(International News Service)
ELPASO, Texas, Dec. 19.—If the border patrol service is to cut down smuggling and strictly enforce the Federal Immigration laws, airplanes will have to be brought into service by the government. In the opinion of Grove Wilmouth, immigration chief here.

For months immigration authorities have watched planes soar in thousands of feet over the Mexican border, knowing that they contained aliens or smuggled goods but powerless to even take the first step toward stopping them.

"There are at least," H. C. Horsley, border patrol chief, says, "four or five planes in the air alone where an alien can obtain passage over the Mexican border into the United States by airplane. We know of this many; how many more there are we can only guess."

"Ordinarily, the charge for bringing an alien in by air is $1,000. The pilot bringing the undesirable foreigner gets from $200 to $400 for taking him 10 to 200 miles inland in a border state and setting him down near a railroad or some city where he can conceal himself."

"Nearly every day our men watch planes coming in high over the border—so high, mostly, that they cannot be identified. They fly far away from the regular air routes and generally in the direction of Albuquerque, N. M., or Amarillo, Texas."

"The only way we can ever combat this means of smuggling is, of course, through the employment of airplanes. If we were equipped with fast planes capable of overtaking the smuggler's machine, we could at least check the traffic."

One soldier of fortune who knows Mexico and other foreign countries like a book, told immigration authorities he was offered $350 a head to bring Chinese into the United States illegally by plane.

"They offered to buy me a cabin plane and pay me that much a head besides," he said, "to bring Chinese 300 miles beyond the border."

Districts Paid Where State Owns Forest Holdings

Checks Totalling More Than $68,000 Have Been Mailed
By Department

HARRISBURG Dec. 19.—Secretary Charles E. Dorworth of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters announced today that checks totalling $68,000.05 have been mailed to townships and counties in which the State Forests are located. The money represents payments for 1930 in lieu of school, road and county taxes on these State-owned lands, and is the largest amount ever paid for this purpose.

Acting under the constitutional provision that public property used for public purposes may be exempted from taxation, laws have been passed in Pennsylvania providing for the payment, in lieu of taxes upon State Forest lands, of five cents per acre per year to the local districts in which these lands are located. Two cents is paid to the township board of road supervisors, and one cent to the county treasurer for county purposes.

For the year 1930 $27,500.02 were paid to 213 school districts, an equal amount to 211 road districts, and $13,780.01 to thirty-three counties. The greatest amount received by any single district was paid to Stewardson township, Potter county, which received $1,765.60 for school and road purposes. Noyes township, Clinton county, received $1,628.96.

In addition to this amount, payments in lieu of taxes upon the Cook State Forest Park aggregated $302.75, and on the Allegheny National Forest in northwestern Pennsylvania, $806.75. Of this amount, $493.30 was paid to five districts in Elk county, $424.05 to six districts in Forest county, and $636.40 to two districts in McKean county.

Yale Law School Plant To Be Moved

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 19.—Yale moves the entire law school plant into a new block-square home next fall. Some 120 students are now using a portion of the new plant for dormitory purposes, two fork street residential courts being ready. For these buildings, occupying the square bounded by York, Grove, High and Wall streets, trustees of the estate of John W. Sterling provided the sum of $5,000,000. Of this $4,000,000 went into buildings while $1,000,000 has been put into a fund to maintain the plant permanently.

The new Yale law school is done on the English Inns-of-Court plan. On three sides are dormitories and student quarters, including a large lounge with all adjoining dining room and kitchen. In the center are separate buildings which divide the inner quadrangle into three courts. These separate buildings contain suites for distinguished visitors. The dean's residence is in the center of all Charles E. Clark, a graduate of Yale College and Yale law school, is dean.

Stockings Are Mended By Bushel At Margaret Henry Children's Home

Every week a bushel basket of stockings is looked over and mended at the Margaret L. Henry home.

The youngsters are hard on stockings and it takes just one day of high pressure wearing to cause little toes to protrude, and heels to become visible.

The stockings and clothes are kept in large closets and each child knows just where to get his own clothes, stockings, coats and shoes. In a separate part of the home, the Sunday duds are kept. Each boy and each girl has a Sunday coat, shoes, suit and dress of which he or she may well be proud. Everything is kept clean and in good condition.

Girls are quite particular about the colors of their clothing. For instance, some girls don't care at all for green and so they are given red or blue or black clothes if possible.

The stockings are made of heavy, durable material and each child is fitted in the right size.

Caution Motorists In Big Game Country

HARRISBURG Dec. 19.—So many deer have been killed by automobiles and so many serious accidents to motorists barely averted, recently, that illuminated signs have been placed along certain highways through the big game country cautioning motorists to drive slowly. Between Phillipsburg and Sandy Ridge, thirty-two deer have been killed by automobiles since September 1. Motorists are not always to blame, as the deer usually leap directly in front of an oncoming car, but, motorists should value their own lives to such an extent that they will drive slowly. No less than six wrecked autos were taken off and Moshannon as a result of collisions with deer.

Judging from a casual survey of reports from field officers it would be safe to say that a thousand deer are killed each year by autos and many human beings injured as a result.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

OFFERS CASH PRIZES AND MEDALS TO EGG WINNERS

Exhibitors of eggs at the 1931 Pennsylvania Farm Show, Harrisburg January 19 to 23, will divide a prize fund of $518.

Eggs will be shown in seven classes. These include backyard, farmers', commercial, hatchery, vocational boys' and girls', commercial pack, and miscellaneous. The first five classes will also compete for sweepstakes. The miscellaneous class is for duck and turkey eggs.

In addition to the cash prizes, winners in the vocational, backyard, farmers', commercial, and hatchery classes will receive silver medals. The winners in the sweepstakes class will receive gold medals, and the same award will be made to the school and the county sending the largest and best display of eggs.

Uniform shape, color, and size are important factors to consider in selecting exhibition eggs. Shells must be smooth, firm, and of fine texture. They also should be free from dirt and stains. The eggs must be properly tested or candied.

Full instruction on selection, packing, and shipping are included in the premium list. Copies can be obtained from the director of the show, R. G. Bressler, Harrisburg, Pa. He also can supply entry blanks or they may be secured from the Agricultural Extension Association, New Castle, D. C. Henderson, State College, Pa., who is in charge of the egg division of the show this year.

will be glad to answer any questions or supply further information desired.

PENNSYLVANIA PRODUCES LITTLE OF MEAT EATEN

Vast quantities of meat are consumed in Pennsylvania, and only a small percentage of it is produced in the state.

With a population of about ten million persons, the consumption of pork is 72.8 pounds per capita each year, only one-fourth of which is produced in the state. Beef consumption runs about 58 pounds per capita annually and lamb and mutton amount to 5.8 pounds per capita a year.

Modern demands make the pork carcass of 125 to 175 pounds most popular now. The baby beef of 700 to 1000 pounds has displayed the heavy steer in popularity, and the demand for lamb has swung toward the carcass weighing 30 to 35 pounds.

WEIGH FEED TO MAKE PROPER DAIRY PROFITS

County Dairymen can save many dollars this winter if they will weigh the feed given to their dairy cows.

Many cows are overfed, which makes the cost of producing 100 pounds of milk too high and thereby cuts down profits. On the other hand, many cows are underfed so that they are not permitted to produce to full capacity.

Weighing the feed, without a doubt, will mean more in dollars and cents to the dairymen than ever before.

The usual suggestions: Feed one pound of grain for each three pounds of milk produced by Guernseys and Jerseys and one pound of grain for each 3 1/2 or 4 pounds of milk produced by the other breeds of cattle. This method of feeding is flexible, so that cows which went into the barn this fall in thin flesh or those which have a poor quality roughage can be fed slightly more grain.

SPECIAL CAR FOR STATE SHOW

"Two tickets for Saturday, please," she said in a sweet voice.

Political Joke Upsets Commoners

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Liberal members of Parliament had a shock recently when they received the following two-line Whip, ostensibly from the party headquarters:

"Your absence from the House of Commons at 11 p. m. is urgently requested."

Frantic telephone calls to party headquarters elicited the information that nothing was known of the supposed Whip.

Later in the day it leaked out that some of the younger Conservative members had concocted the Whip as a new Parliamentary joke.

Large Audience To Hear Of New Castle

On Saturday evening, a radio audience estimated at some millions of people will be offered a broadcast program in which New Castle will hold the center of the stage. For New Castle has been chosen as the subject city for the next in a series of "City Programs" now being presented over the Radio Station K D K A, Pittsburgh, each Saturday evening at 9 p. m.

In addition to this audience of millions in the regular K D K A territory, short wave facilities of the station will carry the program great distances where it will be picked up by transmitters in foreign countries and rebroadcast. So it can truthfully be said that the story of New Castle will be presented to the world.

The program, mostly musical, is sponsored by The Freedom Oil Works Company together with the local dealers in Freedom Oil and Gasoline. It carries the listener back to the time when John Carlyle first settled at the junction of Neshannock Creek and the Shenango River in 1789 and later laid out the village that became New Castle.

The civic and industrial growth of New Castle is chronologically traced. The broadcast tells of the establishing of the Post Office, the start of the first newspaper, the opening of the canal and other avenue, when the pupils of the school are presented in song and speech.

Mrs. Leah Kaplan is directing the oratorio, with Jean Miller, Dorothy Fisher, Sara Eleanor Kohn, Ruth Kilvans, Leona Silverman, Joshua Kaplan, Merv Fisher, Maurice Mer- vis and Teddy Martin taking part.

The program will be under the direction of Ruth Nervis and will include Ruth Kilvans, Thelma Cohen, Harriet Silverman, Jean Edelstein, Libby Aaronson, Paula Levine, Phyllis Cohen and Beatrice Sandler.

A poem, "The Cause of Oil" will be given by Paul Cornfield, and a prologue by Forest Raffle.

The prayer will be offered by Maurice Mervis, after which the Kanukkah candles will be lighted by Lester Levine, thus marking the close of the eight day observation of Hanukkah.

Being mostly musical, the presentation will appeal to music lovers as well as to those particularly interested in the history and industrial development of New Castle.

All people of New Castle and vicinity will be especially interested in listening to this broadcasting program. Remember the date and hour, next Saturday, December 20th at 9 o'clock.

Oratorio Will Be Given By Beth Shalom Sunday School

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Teach Tot To Entertain Self With Simple Toys, Not Needing Amusement

Only Hope Of Peace For Mother Of Wee Child Is To Show Him How To Play By Himself
While She Is Busy

Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"What can I do?" is a question every parent hears over and over of children under ten or twelve. After these children acquire good reading skills they may find many of their satisfactions there. The danger to some is that they will enjoy reading so much as to be tempted to withdraw from activities, particularly activities with other children.

Always the child must be busy. To sit for several minutes at a time merely doing nothing is to him an unknown experience; nor do we find him spending periods of a few minutes at a time in relaxed conversation such as adults engage in.

Many little children just beginning to toddle keep a nurse, or older child or mother employed for hours and hours at a time amusing them. Riding on a Pullman from Chattanooga to Cincinnati, I saw a patient young mother just about wear herself out moving about from place to place and manipulating toys to amuse a ceaseless young actor of nineteen months. I marvelled at her infinite patience. Apparently the child never had learned self-amusement. No doubt at home the mother spent her days from morning till night doing likewise.

Most mothers who can afford help make themselves ceaseless servants to these toddlers. If the mother begins to read, the child tugs at her and whines until she ceases; if she tries to sew he commands her to give it up; if she attempts to play the piano, there he is again to interfere.

Her only hope to enjoy peace and to teach the child to amuse himself is to keep herself busy for several minutes at a time, so busy she cannot help him; then to make these intervals longer and longer. If the child has a few simple things he can manipulate drag or haul about, he gradually will learn to do so and to entertain himself. The mother who must do her own housework just finds it necessary to let the child alone, and sometimes for hours at a stretch. How soon then he learns to adapt himself and to find enjoyment with things about him.

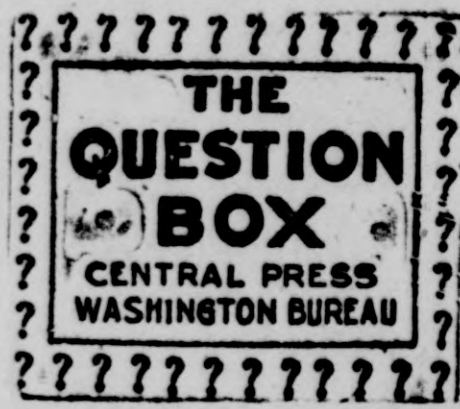

As the child grows older and can develop more complicated structures, a skilful mother can suggest group activities which will afford him happy, useful entertainment for a long while, pausing only now and then to read him a story or two, or to admire his creations.

When this child has playmates there are increased resourcefulness in finding new activities. Thanks to the best modern kindergartens and lower elementary grades, many things are done at school which suggest similar activities at home. I have seen my children finish making things at home begun at school, and take to school some unfinished structure begun at home. For hours, whole half days, indeed, they have worked with other children in their own play room, basement, kitchen or living room at some project which not only kept them busy, but stimulated their creativeness, co-operation all the while accompanied by a good deal of conversation.

Wise parents do not throw away magazines, wood, tin and cardboard containers. They keep all sorts of things for the children to convert into objects of creation. They provide paste, glue, fasteners, paint, colors, crayons, pencils, scissors, hammer, nails, saw and the like and encourage other children to come into the house, their studio and workshop.

They, moreover, are resourceful with new suggestions always ready for the time when they hear the question, "What can I do?"

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

How many human races exist today?

There are three main human races which are recognized today. They are the whites, the yellow-browns and the blacks. Each one of these shows a number of types which are often called races also. The principal of these are: Whites: The Mediterranean, the Alpine and the Nordic. Yellow-Browns: The Mongoloids, the Malays and the American Indian. Blacks: The Negro, the Negritos and Bushmen, the Melanesian Negroes and Australians and the African Negroes.

What is meant by the recall?

The recall is a method of removing from office before the expiration of his term an official who has proved unsatisfactory to his constituency. The machinery of the recall differs from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. In order that a recall election may be instituted, a petition signed by a specified proportion of the voters, must be filed with the proper officials, who, after verifying the genuineness of the signatures, order an election. In most instances, some restriction is placed upon the employment of the recall. In Oregon no petition may be circulated against a state official unless he has held office for six months, excepting members of the assembly and senate, who may be recalled after five days from the opening of the legislative session following their election. After one unsuccessful recall election has been held, no further petition will be entertained unless the petitioners pay into the public treasury a sum sufficient to defray the cost of the election.

What are some of the characteristics of the American mink?

The American mink is a weasel-like animal usually 15 to 18 inches long, besides the tail, which is about nine inches. Minks are inhabitants of well-watered areas, haunting the banks of streams and borders of ponds in search of their food which consists of fish, frogs, salamanders, etc. Minks are usually brown, sometimes rather light, but more often dark. The darker the animal the more valuable it is, and the skins from the coldest regions are usually the most valuable.

How many people are born and how many people die throughout the world daily?

According to statistics 160,000 persons are born every day and 100,000 die.

What is the population of Parkersburg, W. Va., according to the 1930 census? What was it in 1920?

According to the 1930 census, Parkersburg, W. Va., has a population of 29,606. In 1920 the population was 20,050.

Some Decrease In Motor Mishaps

According to a statement from the Pennsylvania Bureau of Motor Vehicles, November accident figures show a substantial reduction from the totals of October of this year and November of 1929. The 3830 accidents for November of 1930, show a decrease of 525 or 12 per cent from the total of October, 1929, and 410 or 9 per cent less than all the accidents reported for November of 1929.

Several causes are attributed for the decrease. One is the compulsory inspection of automobiles which ended on November 30, while the cold weather which kept many drivers from the roads may have been another reason.

During November, 1930, 177 persons met their death in Pennsylvania due to automobile accidents, while the total for the first 11 months was 1707. The total for 1929 was 1703. In November, 1930, 3086 persons were injured, as against 3383 for November, 1929. The first 11 months of 1930 show 36,174 people injured, as against only 32,594 for the entire year of 1929.

"THE CHRISTMAS STORE FOR MEN"

Recommendations Made By Crime Commission

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Four recommendations, which if put into effect would form a nation-wide codification of psychiatric practice in courts and prisons, extending ability of the judiciary to weed out special treatment cases and eliminate "battles of experts" in insanity cases, were revealed in the report of the national crime commission. The report was made by a sub-committee on the medical aspects of crime.

The report is based on studies in conjunction with the American Bar Association, American Medical Association and American Psychiatric Association and on questionnaires sent to more than 2000 judges in the country and 401 penal and correctional institutions.

The committee recommended: Establishment by states of institutions for studying varying types of offenders allowing a greater degree of classification and segregation.

Constitution by larger courts of their own psychiatric clinics and organization by states of psychiatric services available to the lesser courts so as to furnish a staff of experts and social investigators. Extension by the states of the principal of this indeterminate sentence, allowed greater latitude to judges in disposing of prisoners to the various types of institutions. Legislation by the states modeled on the Briggs law of Massachusetts providing for the mental examination of all capital offenders under state authority to make impartial data available to the court in advance of trial and to eliminate "the scandal attendant upon the prevalent system of psychiatric expert testimony."

Nez Perce Indians Found Decreasing

MOSCOW, Idaho, Dec. 19.—Members of the Nez Perce Indian tribe are gradually decreasing, according to the census report released by O. P. Upchurch, Lapwai, superintendent of the reservation, showing a decline of 612 since 1900.

There are now 1,309 members of the tribe as compared to 2,011 thirty years ago.

There were forty one deaths and twenty four births in the tribe recorded during a test month census which shows a greater percentage decrease than for the thirty year period.

Raid Expensive For Shoplifter

DENVER, Dec. 19.—A raid on a Denver public market proved rather expensive for a woman shoplifter recently.

She was caught by a clerk, as she was making an attempted getaway with less than three dollars worth of groceries. He caught her by the collar of her expensive coat and held her while another clerk called police.

Suddenly she slipped her arms from the coat and left the clerk holding the coat. Before he recovered from his surprise she had fled.

What Do They Eat?

Recipes of Well-known folk as told to Violet A. Ryder.

NINA WILCOX PUTNAM, writer of humorous stories, evidently leaves her jokes behind her when it comes to feeding the inner man.

This is a good old-fashioned recipe for crullers. CRULLERS Mix together one cupful of sugar and two well-beaten eggs. Add to this two tablespoonfuls of shortening, melted, and one cupful of sweet milk. Then add slowly, beating all the time, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg, two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder and enough flour to make the dough stiff enough to roll. Cut out and fry in hot, deep fat.

Hunter Shoots Rabbit With Horns

(International News Service) LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 19.—There may be places where the canary birds sing bass, and where similar biological oddities occur—but Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, lays claims to being the only section where the rabbits have horns.

This peculiarity of local bunnies was unknown even to residents of the county until Walker Settler, of Denver, brought in one he had shot.

The rabbit had ten horns, or antlers, on its head. The longest of them was on the forehead at the skull and was several inches in length. Most of the horns, however, were on the back of the head, between the ears, and averaged about an inch long.

Local hunters and naturalists were unable to account for the freakish appearance of the rabbit.

Name Mountain Peak After Woman

(International News Service) LANDER, Wyo., Dec. 19.—Sacajawes, Shoshone Indian woman, who guided the Lewis and Clark expedition across the continental divide in 1804 and 1806 is to be honored in the naming of a mountain peak in the Washakie national forest in Wyoming.

The United State geographic board notified the local forest service recently that Mount Sacajawea is to be the name of a peak 13,607 feet above sea level in the Washakie forest.

Congressmen Work Declares Member

(International News Service) CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 19.—"It requires as much, or more, time and labor, and more courage, to kill a bad bill than it does to pass a good one," declared Congressman William E. Hess of Cincinnati.

Hess said that the negative work of congress is not appreciated by the general public.

Urges Whipping For Law Violators

(International News Service) IONIA, Mich., Dec. 19.—The return of the whipping post with flogging as punishment for law violators is provided for in a bill to be introduced in the state legislature when it convenes January 1, Prosecutor Frank C. Miller reported.

Miller, as chairman of a sub-committee of the State Crime Commission, was unsuccessful in an attempt to have this provision included in a draft of change to be recommended by the commission.

OPEN GLIDER SCHOOL FOR FRENCH YOUTHS

Eastern Railways Talk Of Mergers

Officials Of Four Leading Eastern Railroads Will Hold Conference

HARMONY PROGRAM HAS BEEN REACHED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Well defined reports were circulated today that the long delayed agreement on merger plans by the four leading eastern trunk railroads may soon be accomplished.

Officials of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and the Van Sweringen Lines are scheduled to meet here next Tuesday and it was intimated an official announcement of a merger plan might be made at that time. Intimation that harmony of the four roads on a program of allocating smaller lines had been reached was strongly made.

Plans for building up a fifth trunk line in eastern territory were said to have now been abandoned by the four large roads. If that is the case, the doom has been written of the long-cherished plan of L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson, for establishing a fifth major trunk line in eastern territory.

Plan New Scheme
The four system trunk line plan does not agree with the Interstate Commerce Commission plan of the eastern field, but the four railroads were said to be preparing to present their scheme before the commission at an early date.

The main points in the plan now being completed by the four railroads call for the sale by the Pennsylvania of its holdings in the Lehigh Valley to the Chesapeake & Ohio, nucleus of the Van Sweringen Brothers' share in the proposed arrangement. The Baltimore & Ohio, it was reported is to get the New York Central's share in the Reading, thereby obtaining in conjunction with its interest in the Jersey Central, direct entry into New York. The New York Central will get full claim to the Lackawanna, giving a shorter and more direct route to Buffalo.

Seek Agreement
While reports of the merger plan were made, Professor William Z. Ripley of Harvard University was calling upon railway presidents of the country to reach an agreement on consolidation policy, which he said was essential now more than ever. Speaking at the dinner of the National Association of Owners of Railroad and Public Utility Securities Ripley said that "hard times have proved the railroads must effect every possible economy of operation."

"But with the strictest economy in 1930 they have been unable to earn anything like a fair return prescribed by law," he said.

Ripley charged most of the railroads "are operating upon a wastefully competitive rather than an economic basis." He said no one wanted consolidations that would lessen competition, but said "it was possible to effect consolidations that will be both competitive and economic."

DEPRESSION HITS DOGS AND CATS TOO

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—New York's destitute dog and cat owners, hard hit by the economic depression, have been abandoning their pets in increasing numbers, it was said at the Ellin Prince Speyer hospital where the abandonment of dogs and cats has become an increasing problem for the institution.

Correct this sentence: "My engagement ring was a cheap one," said the woman, "but I never feel cheated when I see a finer one."

States Aid Federal Medical Officers To Fight Trachoma

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—What the government is doing to fight trachoma, that mysterious disease of the eyelids which leads to blindness, is recounted by Dr. Paul D. Mossman, medical officer in charge of Trachoma Prevention in the United States Public Health Service, in a symposium on trachoma published here recently by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Dr. Mossman directs the government's fight on this baffling disease from the federal trachoma hospital situated at Rolla, Mo., in the foothills of the Ozark mountains.

"Among members of the white race," Dr. Mossman writes, "trachoma is endemic in several of the south central states, notably Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Missouri and Arkansas. In most other parts of the country the disease occurs only sporadically. Among the Indians we find some tribes practically free from it while in others the incidence rate runs as high as 20 or 25 per cent. Accessibility of treatment and better living conditions may account for the low rate in some instances, but there are some variations not so easily explained."

"Trachoma is a rural disease. It does not spread in cities, at least in this country. In 1897 trachoma was added to the list of diseases requiring mandatory exclusion of immigrants. This stopped the source of supply, and apparently treatment took care of the stock of cases on hand, thus preventing spread. When or how trachoma was introduced in the section now affected by it, nobody knows. Certainly it was before the time of any of the present inhabitants."

"The work that it being carried on by the U. S. Public Health Service in combating trachoma in the white population is done by a co-operative arrangement with the individual states in which the work is done. We now have three hospitals in as many states—Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky. These hospitals serve as centers for treatment, health education and study of trachoma. The field work carried on in connection with the hospitals differs slightly in the various states.

"The investigation aspect is not being neglected. Our epidemiologist is still busy in the field in Missouri completing his study of trachoma as it occurs in nature, in the hope of gaining information as to the factors promoting spread of the disease. Our bacteriologist is busily engaged in his effort to search out the bacterial cause of the disease. We are trying in the hospitals to develop more accurate methods of diagnosis and more effective treatment."

Denver Girls Given Chance To Learn Trade

Earn Extra Money Mending
Runs In Hois-

(International News Service)
DENVER, Colo., Dec. 19.—Mend-the-run classes at Denver's Opportunity school are proving a means of putting many unemployed girls and women on their feet financially.

The Denver school under the direction of Emily Griffith, "Colorado's most useful woman" has been confronted with one of the biggest problems in its interesting history in taking care of the many workers whose need for better training has been brought home to them forcefully and often cruelly by the present business depression.

The waiting list of those desiring to register for vocational training of one sort or another has tripled since business began to weed out workers not vitally necessary to its survival in the face of adverse financial conditions. The emergency has brought Miss Griffith's initiative and wisdom to the front in arranging new classes and providing space for the new students.

Through the generosity of a number of Denver business houses Miss Griffith procured the necessary machines and instructors. In a short time 25 women and girls, some of them formerly employed as waitresses or chambermaids in hotels or as saleswomen in stores have taken the course and are doing well by themselves. A number of hotel employers are doubling their incomes by adding run-mending to their regular tasks in leisure hours.

Hoosier Boys Hunt For Hawks At Night

(International News Service)
GREENFIELD, Ind., Dec. 19.—Shooting chicken hawks at night with the aid of an ordinary flashlight is a new sport developed by two Indian boys. They go into the woods armed with 22 caliber rifles and three-cell flashlights. The hawks are located roosting in trees and shot down. On their first night hawk hunt Edwin Briney, 18, and Arthur Ward, 19, of near Greenfield brought down three hawks. The birds measured from tip to tip respectively 4 feet, 4 inches, 3 feet, 11 inches and 3 feet 10 inches.

BOURGEOISIE CRAVE WHITE COLLARS

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Dec. 19.—What a rich "American uncle" used to be to the average European, a "Berlin uncle" is now to his Moscow relatives.

Many Russians, especially the less privileged middle class people, are frantically searching their memory for a relative in Berlin, write him and ask for parcels, preferably for such containing clothes.

Since it takes a lot of time for the ordinary citizen to fight his way through all the formalities and "red tape" connected with the dispatch of a parcel to the Soviet Union, a number of Berlin firms announced that they will take care of their respective customers.

According to statements of the shop owners, shoes, clothes and lingerie are the most coveted things. The men are craving for white collars while the women cry mainly for silk stockings and other lingerie.

City Joins Ellwood In Harmony Protest

Believes Harmony Company Contemplates Abandonment Of Electric Cars

City council met in council chambers, municipal building today and joined Ellwood City, Beaver Falls and other towns which will protest the application of a certificate of public convenience to the Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company.

The company has applied to the public service commission for permission to haul freight, merchandise and express by bus from Pittsburgh via Ellwood City to New Castle. A hearing of the application is to be held by the commission Tuesday.

City Manager McNoire, Ellwood City, addressed council here and said that many properties had been bought from development companies subsidiaries of the P. H. B. & N. C. railway company, along the Ellwood City-New Castle route and adjacent to the tracks of the company.

He expressed the belief that if the present application is granted it will give the motor company exclusive right to haul freight, merchandise and express and eventually the P. H. B. & N. C. railway company will abandon its electric car transportation service between Ellwood City and New Castle.

Councilman Genkinger sponsored the motion entering New Castle alongside of the other cities in the fight. His motion was seconded by Councilman Burns and it passed unanimously. Solicitor White told council that the commission would probably act on whether the privilege sought was a necessity.

Dramatic Club Presents Play

Senior High School Actors Stage "The Fool" On Thursday

EXCELLENT WORK IS DONE BY CAST

Thursday morning December 18th the Dramatic Club of the Senior High School presented a Christmas play "The Fool" by Channing Pollock.

The stage was beautifully decorated to present the appearance of a church altar. Two lovely Christmas trees were fittingly laden with trimmings and gifts. At the opening of the play we find several prominent ladies of the church busily tying and placing bundles.

Mrs. Gillian was a very charitable soul who had given two hundred pounds of sugar and coffee to the Salvation Army, and was forever reminding the audience of the fact. This part was ably taken by Louise McCoy, a new comer in Dramatics, and one who made a very good impression.

Her daughter, Dilly, was a very modern young lady who had interestingly given up a dance to assist her mother in decorating. Emily Lou Smith took the part to perfection. She seems to be following in her brother Jim's footsteps.

The third lady was Mrs. Thornbury, a very modern middle aged lady who contrary to Dilly, left in time for her opera engagement. Mary Jane Metzger took this part with all the sophistication of a member of the four hundred.

Barnaby, a very efficient little fellow was Emerson Davies. He was continually bustling in and out fixing a light or getting a package there.

Mrs. Tice was a very wealthy woman who had graciously contributed by having a star made for the tree. It was made of real imitation Parisian diamonds. Marian Rhoads, the wealthy Mrs. Tice made us feel almost mercenary, she so well portrayed the part of the idle rich.

With Mrs. Tice we found Jerry Good, kind of a rival for the hand of Claire Jewett. He too, has money and tries to use it as a means of offering marriage to Miss Jewett.

James Sotus, whom we have seen previously in plays, enacted this part with all brilliancy and poise of one well used to footlights.

Yale Kaplan and Watson Wilson were two prominent gentlemen of the church who had united to oust the Reverend—a preacher of the twentieth century with ancient ideas.

The heroine of the play was Claire Jewett, alias Harriett Kline. Harriett made her debut as a star in High School dramatics in this play. She took her part exceptionally well. We expect to see Miss Kline star in many more future productions.

William Hazen, the star of the last High School play, the Nut farm was the first pastor of the church. Seth Morrow took the part of Daniel, the young assistant, who was too zealous in his pursuit of Christian ideals. Around Daniel the whole story centered. He had the idea of living like Christ and started out to prove his theory that the world can again be conquered by love. And having been disillusioned on all sides by man he turns to God for consolation.

The close of the play found him thus kneeling at the altar with a great shining star overhead and voices outside singing "Silent Night". It was a beautiful, impressive play—one which will long be remembered by those who saw it.

We notice there's still enough money in this country to keep up the morale of bank robbers—The San Bernardino Sun

Gulf Oil Plans River Terminal

Permission To Construct River Terminal In Monongahela
Asked Government

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 19.—

Permission to construct a river terminal in the Monongahela river at Dravosburg was asked of the Federal Government by the Gulf Refining Company in an application on file today.

According to plans of the company, the proposed terminal will include pipe lines to allow for the pumping of petroleum products from barges into tanks located along the banks of the river.

The Gulf company also proposes to construct a series of dolphins to provide a harbor for tying up its boats. It seeks to dredge the harbor and remove about 500 cubic yards of material.

The entire fleet of six barges of the Standard Oil company in the Pittsburgh district was in drydock at Neville Island. The boats are being scraped painted and officials of the company believe they will be ready for service again at the first of the year.

There is an overproduction of gossip too, but it seems never to exceed the demand.—The Florence (Alabama) Herald.

Thirty-Eight Pledged To Seven Sororities Thursday

Westminster Greek Letter Societies Take In Members

(Special to The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Thirty-eight girls were pledged to the seven sororities at Westminster College as the culmination of the annual rushing season at noon yesterday. The bidding for new members was unusually equal, and each of the seven groups won about equal numbers.

At noon, with the siren whistle as the signal, the presidents of the seven organizations called at the college office where Dr. C. A. Dawson, umpire, gave the leaders lists of those who had accepted the bids. The girls, most of whom are freshmen, had turned in sealed bids signifying their choices earlier in the morning.

Phi Delta Chi sorority pledged six members: Miriam Davidson, East Liverpool, O.; Alice Eisenman, DuBois; Grace Kelly, West Middlesex; Mary Mercer, Kansas City, Kan.; Irene Miles, New Wilmington; Euba Sizer, Sharon.

Alpha Gamma Delta's new pledges are: Jane Baker, Pittsburgh; Jane Black, Butler; Anna Marie Blamer, Sharon; Peggy Gilmore, Pittsburgh; Isabelle Kildoo, Bellevue; Emily Parker, New Castle; Ruth Russell, Youngstown, O.

Chi Omega sorority pledged: Martha Chapman, New Castle; Hazel Ellwood, Pittsburgh; Jean Miller, Bradford; Gretchen Welch, Pittsburgh; Marjorie Westfall, Crafton.

Sigma Kappa sorority added the following pledges to its list: Bella Douglass, Canonsburg; Elizabeth Newell, Ambridge; Mary Oldfield, McDonald; Louise Johnston, Farrell; and Marian Johnston, Cochran.

Kappa Alpha sorority's pledges are: Ruth Archibald, East Palestine, O.; Jane Kerr, Sharon; Helen McCuen, Pittsburgh; Elaine Nagle, Coraopolis; and Mary Patterson, New Galilee.

Pi Rho Phi sorority added the following pledges to its list: Marjorie Glass, Oil City; Miriam Gray, McDonald; Ruth Hayes, Butler; Clara Elizabeth Morris, Ambridge; Clara Sherwin, Yonkers, N. Y.; and Janet White, Kittanning.

The new pledges of Omicron Mu Gamma sorority are: Martha Goodwin, Oil City; Eleanor Sample, Evans City; Margaret Weber, New Wilmington; Marian Ferver, New Wilmington; and Margaret Reese, New Wilmington.

Omicron Mu Gamma, with Elizabeth Rose, New Wilmington, as president, has 13 active members and five pledges for a total of 18 members. Pi Rho Phi, with Louise Adams, New Wilmington, as president, has 11 active members, four sophomore pledges, and six freshman pledges for a total of 21 members.

Alpha Gamma Delta, with 13 active members and seven pledges, has a total of 20 members. Mary Lou Abraham, Butler, is president. Sigma Kappa, with Mary Alice Neill, Canonsburg, as president, has 13 active members and five pledges, or a total of 18.

Phi Delta Chi, with Kathryn Agnew, Pittsburgh, as president, has 15 active members, one sophomore pledge, and six freshman pledges, or a total of 22 members. Chi Omega sorority, with Margaret Smith, New Wilmington, as president, has 18 active members, two sophomore pledges, and five freshman pledges, or a total of 25 members. Sororities at Westminster are limited to 25 members by the faculty.

All of the seven sororities had parties to welcome their new members last evening. These parties combined the annual Christmas gatherings of the groups, and a number of alumnae from nearby towns attended the activities.

Elks Planning Christmas Cheer

Will Change Usual Custom Of Giving Christmas Baskets This Year

Plans are being made by the New Castle Lodge of Elks for their annual Christmas distribution of cheer to the needy ones of the city.

Instead of giving regular Christmas baskets as in former years, the committee in charge, which is headed by Walter Patterson, plans to give more material aid.

New clothing will be given where it is found more expedient than a basket of luxuries, while more substantial food will fill the baskets to be given this year than heretofore.

A check-up is being made with the other charitable organizations of the city to see that there is no unnecessary duplication.

GRANT CITY

Making Plans For South Side Banquet

D. O. Davies, who is at the head of the banquet committee at the South Board of Trade is busily engaged making plans for the annual fete of the South Side organization. The banquet will take place early in January at the Central Christian church on the corner of East Long avenue and Pennsylvania avenue.

What's the use? When we reconciled ourselves to sandwiches and learned to send Christmas cards instead of presents, they began to make fancy ones at six bits.

First Christmas Tree, Living Tree, Legend Says

People Of New Castle Are Preparing To Spread Christmas Spirit

VARIOUS TREES HAVE BEEN ERECTED HERE

Various persons in different sections of the city are preparing to spread the yuletide spirit through various-colored lights and decorated Christmas trees. Already the spirit is vividly displayed after darkness which brings forth the legend of the Christmas tree.

According to the legend, the first Christmas tree was a living tree, Saint Winifred being responsible. He had been sent as a missionary to the ancient Germans to turn their minds to the worship of God. His attempts were in vain until he chose a dramatic moment when the people were gathered about a huge oak tree to worship their god of thunder, according to the legend.

As they were about to offer a human sacrifice, so the legend goes, in the December of the B and O magazine, the Winifred signalled his woodmen to cut down the oak. This was done before the eyes of the people and great was their astonishment to find in the clearing back of the oak tree, a young fir tree.

The good man then said: "Here is the living tree with no human blood upon it—the sign of the Christ Child, of whom I am the messenger. See how it points to the sky where He dwells. The thunder-oak has fallen and the day is coming when there shall not be a home in all the country where children are not gathered around the fir tree, rejoicing over the Christ child.

And so the evergreen became the religious symbol. It grew even more beautiful at a season when all else died. The ancients trimmed it with their thank-offerings and gathered about to worship it. When a tiny child today reaches out his arms to the glories of his Christmas tree he is merely repeating a gesture almost as old as Christianity itself.

E. Lackawannock

State Death Rate Lower This Year

May Supplant 1927, When Lowest Death Rate On Record Occurred

According to statistics gathered by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, the 1930 death rate bids fair to be the lowest in history, exceeding the record established in 1927.

From January through September, there were 82,032 deaths from all causes, exclusive of still births, as compared with 88,612 during the same period in 1929.

Deaths under one year of age have shown a marked reduction in number, while gratifying reductions have also been made in the diphtheria and tuberculosis death rate. These two great causes of death will show a record low number during the year. The decrease is reflected in the active campaign which is being continually waged to eradicate the two dread diseases.

Heart disease, cancer, nephritis, tuberculosis, and pneumonia, the leading causes of death all showed marked reductions, evidencing a most healthy state.

During the month of September, there was only one death throughout the entire state from scarlet fever, an unusual condition which has occurred only once before in twenty-five years.

There has been a marked decline this year in the disease peculiar to childhood, such as measles, whooping cough, and the like.

The two confined are Charles McCandless, R. D. 6, and Albert L. Johnson, who resides at Coaltown.

Christmas This Year

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
CHRISTMAS this year will be strangely different to many millions of people whose circumstances are different from what they have ever been before at Christmas time. But the joy of Christmas never need be limited by our circumstances. Suppose, for example, that bereavement has come since last Christmas, removing from the family circle a loved one who will be missed this Christmas. Instead of mourning our loss and making Christmas a day of intolerable sadness, suppose we think of it rather as our loved one's first Christmas in heaven and celebrate it as such.

Christmas and Unemployment
Christmas this year must of necessity be different, also, to millions upon whose homes the shadow of unemployment has rested during a great portion of this year. The plenty of former years will be absent and in its place will be dire poverty. Some who always have helped the poor at Christmas other years will have to accept charity this year. How shall these enjoy Christmas this year?

Two alternatives present themselves again. The day may be made one of intolerable sadness by lamenting the absence of material things enjoyed at Christmas other years, or it may be made a day of peace and blessing by entering into peace and appreciation of the spirit and mission of that first glad Christmas. For was it not to lowly shepherds in Bethlehem's fields that the angelic hosts brought heaven's first Christmas greeting, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased?" Was it not to a dreary stable that these poor laboring men of the fields were directed to seek for the newborn Christ Child? "Ye shall find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger." Should not the memory of the poverty of that first Christmas hallow the meager circumstances which many among us must for the first time celebrate Christmas this year?

What possibilities Christmas this year has for a chastened and suffering world to enter into fellowship with the shepherds of the first Christmas, and the manger cradled Christ of swaddling clothes, and with the parents whose poverty forbade them offering a lamb at His presentation, and led them, instead, to bring two young pigeons, the sacrifice of the very poor! Christmas, this year, may hold unusual possibilities for a new appreciation of "the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for our sakes he became poor, that we through his poverty might be rich."

For those in better circumstances Christmas this year should suggest the special need of unselfish sharing of the fields; it saw the shepherds sharing the good news with their neighbors as they "returned gloriously and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen." Christmas this year should mean sharing by all of us as the Christ shared that first Christmas. (The International Uniform Christmas Lesson for December 21 is Luke 2:1-20 and the Golden Text, Luke 2:11 "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.")

Drops His Hat, Lands In Jail

Headgear Clue Leads Police To Owner Of Illegal Still

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Dec. 19.—Household hints: When operating a still don't wear the number of your automobile license in your hat.
A fire broke out in a Denver home. Firemen found it had been caused by the explosion of a still. The owner was not present.

Near the house police found a hat which the still operator had dropped in his hurry to leave the scene. Inside the hatband was the number of an auto license.

Police looked up the number and found it belonged to James Thompson.

Before the fire was extinguished Thompson, 38 years old, was found in another part of the town, still out of breath from his run from the scene of the fire.

He admitted, police said, he was the man they were seeking, and was arrested.

Thompson said he and another man, whose name he refused to reveal, were filling the tank of the burner under the still when the explosion occurred. One of them held a kerosene lamp too near the gasoline tank.

A quantity of mash was found in the home, and the 35-gallon still was seized.

Navy Air Secretary Stars On Polo Field

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 19.—David S. Ingalls, versatile assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, led all Cleveland players in the number of points scored in outdoor polo games played during the season just closed.

"The Flying Secretary," as he has been termed by his associates, scored a total of 44 goals in the 18 games he played with the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club. Ingalls barely nosed out the brilliant seven-goal star, Harry East, by a scant margin of two points. Ingalls' average per game was 2.44.

Ingalls managed to win the scoring honors in Cleveland, despite the fact that he was compelled to discontinue playing more than a month before the season ended when he sustained a broken shoulder bone in a fall from a polo pony.

Optometrist Says Man's Eyes Poorly Adapted To Auto Traffic

By JAMES E. HILEMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—The eyes of man have not yet become adapted to swift-moving traffic. The average human's eyes are good enough under ordinary conditions, but under the strain of driving they soon become fatigued.

This was the opinion of Dr. A. M. Skeffington of Chicago, inter-nationally known authority on eyes and director of the Graduate Founda-tion of Optometry now conduct-ing a series of clinics at the Uni-versity of Southern California here.

Dr. Skeffington believes that eye fatigue caused by driving in traffic is responsible for a large number of traffic accidents. The constant movement of cars in all directions puts the eyes under constant ten-sion. This tires the eye-muscles and eyes soon become partially par-alyzed with vision temporarily im-paired.

"Man's optics have not yet adap-ted themselves to the helter-skelter of modern traffic," said Doctor Skeffington. "The eye is still prim-itive, and unless man takes steps to combat the condition of fatigue greater will be the number of traf-fic accidents."

Modern school eye tests are not practical, declared the optometrist, because they do not take into con-sideration the point where the optic reaches a stage of fatigue, but mere-ly consider the distance which one sees.

"The child who cannot read the school chart is fortunate, for steps are taken to study the condition of his eyes and prepare them for strain of book-reading," said Dr. Skeffington.

The eye is the barometer of health, measurement being by the nervous stimulation to which the eye response to color, he declared.

"Adaptation of eyes to modern condition—the preservation of vis-ual efficiency—is the scope of op-tometry," stated doctor Skeffington.

W-H-A Club Party

The social hours were later spent in playing 500, and at the conclusion of the game, it was discovered the favors for honors were awarded to Mrs. George Bryan and Mrs. David Abernathy. The serving of a dainty lunch at a late hour, brought a most delightful meeting to a close. The hostess was assisted by Miss Gertrude Lundy in serving.

The guest fa-vors was given to Mrs. Small. At a selected hour, the guests were in-duced into the dining room where a beautifully decorated table greet-ed their eyes. After an appetizing lunch had been served by the host-ess, assisted by her daughter and Mrs. George Small, the exchange of gifts were made. Covers were arranged for 28 guests, and a menu consisting of many de-lectable dishes served by Mrs. Mc-Caslin and her aides, the Misses Lucielle Wimer and Elsie Beaks was the feature at 10 o'clock. Horse Lovers Sure Animals Are Coming Back As Favorites

Cooper Returns From Horse Association Meeting In Chi-cago; Tells Of Belief

An air of optimism prevails among horse lovers and horse breeders throughout the country, Thomas Cooper well known Harlansburg horse fancier, declared upon his ar-rival from Chicago where he at-tended the annual meeting of the Horse Association of America.

The annual meeting was marked by optimism on the part of horse-men and those representing allied in-dustries. R. P. Carr, one of the as-sociation directors expressed the sentiment when he said:

"I have been coming to the Inter-national Live Stock Show and the annual meetings of the Horse As-sociation for many years, but never before have I seen the horsemen with their heads up and with so much life and courage in their atti-tude as they have this year."

Carr's observation was confirmed by others. A drop in the price of grain, certainty of continued low prices on farm products, and the ex-tensive experience which thousands of farmers are said to have had with tractors have combined to create an under-current of feeling among farmers generally, it is re-ported, that horses and mules are the one best bet that farming prac-tices must be built around them and around their use in multi-hitch uni-ts.

Mission Bank Cans Will Be Collected After Christmas

The collection of the City Rescue Mission bank cans has been stopped until after Christmas. Workers who have been collecting the banks have had great difficulty in finding people at home during the holiday shopping season. Therefore it has been deemed wise to make no fur-ther collection of the cans until the Christmas rush is over. This will give the friends of the Rescue Mission a further opportunity to can some more coins.

As the stockings are filled Christ-mas eve, don't forget the homeless and needy of the city, who are cared for by the Mission. After Christ-mas the big bank crash will come and the cans will be collected and converted into practical benevolence and tangible Christianity.

DEROY'S QUITTING BUSINESS

Beggar Gets Five Days To County Jail

Tony Pietro, Polish, who resides in the Sheep Hill district, has been occasioning the city police consid-erable trouble by his door to door begging propensities.

He has a habit of going to the door of the homes and demanding money. When it is refused him, he usually becomes quite abusive. The fact is, the police state, that he has a good home and it is not necessary for him to follow a beg-ging business.

As a result of a complaint made yesterday, he was apprehended and placed in the city jail. This morn-ing on appearing before Mayor Wil-liam H. Gillespie, he claimed he could not understand when assessed a fine of $5 with the alternative of five days in the county jail.

But when it came to paying the fine out of something more than that amount he had in small change

Foresters Give Rules For Those Lost In Woods

Tells Persons Lost To Use Their Heads Instead Of Legs

FIND BABES NOT ONLY ONES WHO GET LOST

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 19.—"Babes" are not the only ones that get lost in the woods, according to a report released here by the regional forester's office.

During the past summer and fall, 57 men, women and children have had the experience of being lost in the national forests of Oregon and Washington. The forester's office headed the list as the one most frequently calling searching parties into action. Several children, an elderly lady and a policeman were also on the list.

Foresters, who spend hundreds of hours and hundreds of dollars in government money returning the wanderers to the forest paths, have formulated a set of rules which they wish every would-be timber-cruiser would paste in his hat before exploring the mysteries of the government woodlands. They suggest:

1. Stop. Sit down and try to figure out where you are. Use your head and not your legs.

2. If caught by night, fog or storm, stop at once and make camp in a safe spot. Gather plenty of dry fuel as soon as possible after selecting a stopping place.

3. Don't wander about. Travel only down-hill.

4. If you are injured, choose a clear spot on a promontory if possible and build a signal smoke.

5. Don't yell; don't run; don't worry and above all, don't quit.

Danger increases in the winter and the forest officers emphasize that people inexperienced with snow and low temperature, especially at high elevations, should keep out of the mountains and forests unless accompanied by someone experienced in such conditions.

Road Conditions Will Be Reported By Motor Patrol

Will Be On Lookout For Traffic Hazards While Covering Their Beats

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Pennsylvania's State Highway Patrolmen have been directed by Superintendent Wilson C. Price to report immediately to State Highway Department headquarters in their districts road conditions which constitute a hazard for motorists. Snow may be falling, and the winds blowing—the highway may be slicked and slippery, but the patrolman must make his rounds. His mind conjures a phrase in the regulations governing the outfit:

"Inclement weather will not be considered an excuse for failure to comply with regulations with patrol activities."

"Of course," said Captain Philip C. Dorr to-day, "the day's mileage is not so great in bad weather as in the smiling days of June, but each of our men has a route to cover and he covers it. We have instructed them that when they discover a slippery hill, or a slippery curve, or any road condition likely to prove dangerous to motorists, they must report immediately to State highway representatives in their districts. These reports are most numerous, of course, in the northern tier of Pennsylvania counties, in Western Pennsylvania, and in the central section lying west of a line drawn north and south through Bedford and Hollidaysburg. The roads are rarely as treacherous east of Harrisburg and south of Reading as they are in the balance of the State.

"So far this winter the Highway Patrolmen have had some terrible going. Conditions have been so bad, our reports show, that travel on every highway has fallen half of normal. But while the average citizen is at home, comfortable and warm, he may be sure that several hundred members of the State Highway Patrol are on the job, no matter what the weather may be. They have side cars, of course, giving them three contact points with the highway surface, but their journeys are not exactly pleasurable."

Oldest College Frosh War Vet

(International News Service)
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 19.—Veteran of two armies, Louis Gade, 44, is the University of Tennessee's oldest Freshman.

Gade served enlistments in the Canadian and American armies during the World War and was disabled while in France with the United States army. After spending several years in government hospitals, he was well enough to pursue his education at the expense of Uncle Sam.

He is not taking an extension course, but the regular Freshman subjects of English, history, trig and German.

BEWARE OF CARBON MONOXIDE WARNS STATE HEALTH OFFICER

The closed season for garages is the open one for carbon monoxide deaths. From the number of reports each week reaching health authorities at this time of the year, carelessness and thoughtlessness regarding this menace appear to be more widespread than they should be; especially in view of the repeated warnings which have reached the eye of the average man and woman for many years," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"There appears to be an ostrich-like attitude toward this cold weather hazard. The fact that carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless and tasteless seems to satisfy many persons that no risk is involved, despite the direct statements to the contrary; that this viewpoint may be the immediate forerunner of death never seems to enter their heads until the carbon monoxide does. Then it is quite too late.

"Just the other day a well known citizen who prided himself upon his sensible living habits, went west via the carbon monoxide road. Only twenty-four hours before he had stopped a friend on the street and became eloquent on his careful manner of living. 'I eat moderately, sleep eight hours each night, walk three miles every day or in lieu thereof play golf, and I avoid excesses of all kinds. Indeed, he concluded, 'I don't even use coffee or tea. I'm going to live to be a hundred, if I can!'

"It seems a shame that a man like this so sold to health and life should have exchanged his earthly existence for a few moments of physical comfort in a closed garage. But he did just that very thing.

"It must be understood that this insinuating gas becomes powerful enough to kill a person in five minutes time, provided the exhaust is coming from a six cylinder car and the garage is of average one-car capacity. Which suggests a lethal potency that brooks no foolishness.

"In the nature of things, there will be a comparatively large number of carbon monoxide automobile victims in the United States during the winter months, not to mention the hundreds who will die from carbon monoxide by the careless or worn-out couplings of gas stoves, etc.

And unfortunately Pennsylvania will get its share of these deaths. "Persons should therefore make it very strictly their business to stay out of this accidental death class by staying out of closed garages with running engines. Better suffer a little frigid weather with the garage doors wide open, as they should be, than not to be able to suffer at all. Beware of carbon monoxide, recognize and respect its power to slay. And live!"

RAISE NEW VILLAGE ON RECLAIMED DELTA

(International News Service)
ELBING, Dec. 19.—A new village will shortly arise near this East Prussian city on land wrested from the sea. Some 1,800 acres in the delta formed by the Elbing and Nogot rivers have been reclaimed by canals, and 55 families will soon be settled on it, with their own homes and a school. A further 1,200 acres of reclaimed land will be added next year.

Mother's Agile Toes Save Child

(International News Service)
NORTHUMBERLAND, Pa., Dec. 19.—The fact that she had no arms did not stop Mrs. Charles Matthews when the piercing screams of her four-year-old daughter filled the air after the child's clothing became ignited as she played in the yard of her home.

The mother rushed into the yard threw off her shoes, removed her stockings, and using her toes for fingers stripped the blazing clothing from her daughter.

The girl's life was saved through the prompt action of her mother and it was an easy task for the mother who has trained her feet to perform miracles. She had done more difficult feats in a circus many years ago. When her child's life was threatened she had only to repeat what she had once learned.

SILVERTONE RADIO

There's a novel sense of power in conducting the great orchestras of the world from your easychair. Yet that is what operating the tone control knob of Silvertone amounts to.

The orchestra conductor—at the concert hall or studio, has scarcely more direct authority over the music than the Silvertone fan at his tone control dial. There, he can experiment with contrasts and shadings, impart thunder to the bass or lyric eloquence to the treble—in short, play the music as he thinks it should be played. In Silvertone, tone control actually brings out hidden beauties of bass or treble, instead of seeming to exalt one register through the throttling of the other.

Relief Station Is Doing Good Work

One of the relief stations in the city that is doing a splendid piece of work is the clothing room operated in the Administration building of the public schools on East street. Here second hand clothing is received from children of the various schools and distributed where it will do the most good.

The distributing station is in charge of Dr. Mary J. Baker, medical director, and the two school nurses, Miss Emma J. Dodds and Miss Helen Wilson.

City council convened formally in the municipal building today and decided to take out with McBride & Shannon compensation on all city employees, commencing January 1, 1931. Councilman Burns sponsored the move.

McBride & Shannon, it was reported, had worked out a system last summer which got the city a low rate.

British War Ace Visits Bradford Field As Teacher

American, Who Joined English Air Fighters, Returns To Cleveland With Student

J. M. Hill, an American, who became a British aviator in the late war, departed this morning from Bradford airport with his aviation student, Frank Conti, son of Jake Conti, West Washington street extension fire work manufacturer.

Hill and Conti landed at the New Castle airport Thursday afternoon in their American Eagle biplane, having arrived from Cleveland. Both left for that city today after staying overnight in New Castle.

Hill joined the British air service before the United States entered the conflict. He began commercial flying in 1924. Young Conti at present is a student pilot and expects soon to obtain a private pilot's license from the Department of Commerce.

Still somewhat bruised, but with no serious injuries, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gerson are home today from Cleveland, O., after an automobile accident that came within an ace of costing them their lives. They were discharged from the hospital Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Wolf, also of New Castle, are still in the Cleveland hospital, but will probably be discharged in a few days. They were with Mr. and Mrs. Gerson when the Gerson car upset near Chagrin Falls, O., a few days ago.

The escape from more serious injury is almost miraculous. The automobile was completely wrecked and Mr. Gerson will not even have it repaired. The occupants were rolled and tossed about in the car as it upset and were all bruised and scratched.

Throat Infection Is Fatal To Five

Sore Throat Infection Kills Five
In Canada, Report 500
Stricken

(International News Service)
TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 19.—Five persons are dead and five hundred are stricken at Kirkland Lake as a result of an epidemic of sore throat, according to advices received here today. Officials say it is one of the worst outbreaks in the history of the dominion.

A similar epidemic recently caused a series of deaths in Edmonton. A shortage of doctors and nurses and lack of sufficient hospital facilities has accentuated the seriousness of the situation. The milk supply is blamed for carrying the germs.

Wipe the stove with a cloth moistened with kerosene. This removes all grease and grime and keeps the stove like new. It is also a preventative of rust.

MARY BARTHELMESS WITH MOTHER

By ruling of the Rev. S. Parkes Cadman of New York City, seven-year-old Mary Hay Barthelmess will spend Christmas with her mother, Mary Hay, in New York, instead of with her screen-star daddy, Richard Barthelmess, in Hollywood. Dr. Cadman acted as arbiter at the request of the parents. He also decided that the child will remain with her mother until July and again be returned to her at the end of August for six months, to make up for extra time which Barthelmess has had her. Miss Hay now is the wife of David Bath, New York newspaperman, and Barthelmess married Mrs. Jessica Sergeant, of New York, in 1928. Photos show little Mary with her parents and Dr. Cadman.

People Should Tell Police Of Suspicious Acts

Information Might Prove Of Value In Solving Criminal Cases

Chief of Police C. C. Horner today issued a request to the people of this city to be more prompt in reporting matters that arouse their suspicion at any time of day or night. It may be the means, said the chief, of solving robberies and other crimes that are committed in the city.

If the people would report these suspicious occurrences when they are noticed, he said, the police could get out on the case at once and make investigations that would probably result in the solution of crimes and robberies and might even be the means of preventing the commission of a robbery or crime.

When any circumstances arouse the suspicion of a resident of the city, they are requested to call "No 8" at once, so that the police may have a good opportunity of getting on the job early and not be held up until the following day and after some crime has been committed.

Senate Leaders Defend Hoover

Democrats Charge President With Final Accounting
Of Belgium Fund

FLARE-UP OCCURS ON SENATE FLOOR

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Infuriated by the charges of Democrats that President Hoover failed to make a final accounting of a $100,000,000 Belgian relief fund in post-war days, the administration ranks of the senate rallied to his defense. Thursday with attacks upon his critics and praise for his handling of the unemployment problem.

Senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee, goaded the Republicans into defending the President by charging for the third time, that Mr. Hoover had made no accounting of the Belgian relief fund. McKellar declared the senate should not turn over to Mr. Hoover another huge relief fund until he made a final accounting of the Belgian funds.

Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, and Glenn (R) of Illinois, rose to the President's defense. Glenn charged McKellar with making his charges through malice, ignorance and spite.

Flare-up Occurs

The flare-up over the President featured debate on the Administration's $116,000,000 public works construction bill. McKellar led a fight to retain a curb in the bill upon the President's authority to allocate the money, while the administration senators urged restoration of the house provision, which gives Mr. Hoover this power.

One of the high spots in McKellar's attack was the reading of a similar denunciation of Mr. Hoover in 1919 by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. He quoted Borah as saying that he objected to turning money over to Mr. Hoover because of the "manner in which he distributes his funds and carries on his business—the interested parties who he permits to realize unconscionable profits."

McKellar protested that congress should allot specific sums for any building projects recommended by Mr. Hoover. He urged fullest liberality in such appropriations but pleaded with the senate not to give the President any "unlimited power."

Vandenberg Replies

Vandenberg was the first to reply. He declared he knew "nothing more futile than to tarnish the reputation of Mr. Hoover as a war administrator at this late date." He added that "nothing contributes less to the solution of the problems facing us than such an attack." Then, he had a Detroit newspaper editorial read to the senate which characterized Mr. Hoover as "the man of all men to be entrusted with broad powers to administer a relief fund."

Glenn said he felt McKellar, upon reflection, would "make some amends or apologize to the President."

"His bitter, vitriolic and, I believe, unwarranted attack has continued," said Glenn. "It goes not so much to the governmental views, practices or administration of Mr. Hoover but to his character, integrity and honor. I protest against it. I'd take the same position if the President were a Democrat. Because President Hoover is charged in effect with being an embezzler of public funds. That is the direct insinuation, the almost direct charge."

Attack Unwarranted
Glenn said McKellar's charge that Mr. Hoover failed to account for the Belgian relief fund implied a charge "that Mr. Hoover is a dishonest man and took for his own use, or allowed his associates to take unlawfully money appropriated to feed the starving people of Europe."

Pess thinks the Grand Old Party may split. There's always that danger if a fellow straddles too much.

Will Protest Harmony Plan

Ellwood City To Object To Harmony Route Motor Bus Program

FEAR ABANDONMENT OF TROLLEY ROUTE

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 19.—A decision was reached at a special meeting of the Borough Council held in the City building for Ellwood City to join with Zelienople and other towns in registering a protest before the Public Service Commission against the proposal of the Harmony Traction company for the inauguration of a motor bus freight and express service in this section.

A committee consisting of J. E. McDaniel, chairman, Clyde B. Houk, City Manager, Lowell Monroe and Attorney J. W. Humphrey, will draw up the protest which will be duly presented at a meeting of the Public Service Commission in Pittsburgh December 23.

In addition to the city's protest a separate protest will be filed by about 400 people residing along the Harmony line. They were represented at the meeting and it was declared that the establishing of a freight route was the first step towards the abandonment of the trolley line in this section which, they claim, would leave them without adequate transportation facilities.

GROWS NEW TEETH
AT RIPE AGE OF 77
MONESANO, Wash., Dec. 19.—While other grandfathers are worrying about keeping their artificial "uppers" and "lowers" in a state of repair James De Wolfe, 77, is getting himself a new set of teeth without the outlay of a penny. Mother nature is providing the new set.

Good times are timid. They always sneak up on you while your nose is pressed on a grindstone.

Rough Food Aids Tooth Development

Teach Two-Year-Old To Use Toothbrush—Dr. Clendenning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
The temporary teeth should be fully developed at four years. By this time it is not only that they all be erupted, but also the roots should be fully formed. When they first appear the roots are not formed. The first teeth to come through usually develop their roots by the end of the second year and the process of root formation goes on until the end of the fourth year. Chewing rough food will force the teeth into the sockets and help the development of the roots. The toothbrush should be put in use early, about the time all the temporary teeth are in place, or when the child is two and a half years old. The toothbrush need not be used more than once a day, preferably at night. Milk of magnesia is a good preparation to use as a tooth cleanser during childhood. The brushing should be done systematically, first down on the grinding surface of the back teeth, moving the brush in a rotary fashion. Teach the child to brush the teeth systematically—the upper set, first back and then front, then the lower teeth. The toothbrush should be rinsed in water and hung in the sun to dry. This is all that is required for anti-septic purposes. If when travelling this cannot be done, a little salt should be shaken on the bristles and washed off before the next use. The age period of five to six years is a very important one for the teeth. During this time the first permanent teeth come in. They are the molars or grinders in the back of the jaw. They are often mistaken for temporary teeth, and if decay sets in, neglected, on the supposition that these teeth will fall out anyway. Be sure to have your child see a dentist at five years, and assure yourself that these important teeth are coming in properly, are not decaying, and have a good development of the grinding surface.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
J. T. P., San Francisco, Cal.: "Do dyes used to blacken tan shoes ever cause trouble?"
Answer: Yes. If the dyed shoes are worn too soon the coloring matter is volatilized by the heat of the feet and absorbed through the skin. It causes the skin all over the body to turn blue. The appearance of such a person is ghastly. However, there seems to be no permanently bad effects, the blue disappearing from the skin in about a week.

Newspaper File Is Open To Public

(International News Service)
AACHEN, Dec. 19.—The largest collection of newspapers in the world has now been made accessible to the public. It could heretofore be visited only by special permission. This international newspaper museum was founded in 1886. Among its collection of 150,000 newspapers are curiosities from all countries and in almost all languages of the world, including an Eskimo paper and manuscript newspaper from the middle of the last century. There is a spiritualistic newspaper printed in white on black paper. One of the first Socialist newspapers, dating from 1849, is printed on dark red paper, and there is a copy of the Cologne "Volkszeitung" of October 31, 1889, which contains a 39-line account of the hundred year jubilee of the firm of Solomon Oppenheimer printed in gold letters.

Electrons Prove Hard To Count

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 19.—How big is an electron? The difficulties encountered in measuring these minute electrical units were explained to reporters as follows during a meeting of the American Physical society at the University of Chicago: "The amount of electricity in a single electron is so small that it would require the entire population of Chicago, counting at the rate of 200 a minute eight hours a day, from the time of the Trojan war to the present day to tell off one by one the electrons passing through an ordinary 40-watt light bulb in a single second. Expressed in pounds, the mass of the electron is 2x10 to the minus 30th power, or a decimal point followed by 29 zeros and a two. The reporters were convinced that electrons are very small indeed.

All things are relative, and being an important citizen is merely a matter of finding a town small enough.—The Richmond News Leader.

Former Pitt Grid Star Meets Death In Greensburg, Pa.

Dr. Ross R. Feightner Slips With Rifle In Hand, Bullet Kills Him

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Dec. 19.—Dr. Ross R. Feightner, 42, prominent local dentist, sports follower and former University of Pittsburgh athlete, was dead today as the result of a bullet wound through the heart accidentally sustained last night. Feightner was returning a loaded rifle to a friend from whom he had borrowed it, when he slipped on the ice and discharged the gun. The weapon fell against his chest and the bullet pierced his heart, killing him almost instantly. A graduate of the school of dentistry in the class of 1911, Feightner alternated at tackle and fullback on the Pitt teams of 1909-10-11 then coached by the late Col. Joe Thompson. He is survived by his widow and three children.

Timber Loss Little Despite Many Fires

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 19.—Despite the fact that there were more forest fires in the national forests

Tellin' It to the Guv'nor!

of the Pacific Northwest during the past year than in any previous year, property loss and damaged timber was reported comparatively light. There was no loss of life. According to figures presented by regional forester C. J. Buck, there were 2019 fires in this region last year. This was largely due to the fact that 1930 was the driest year on record. A total area of 23,151 acres of national forest land and 1265 acres of private land inside the national boundaries was burned over. Responsibility for fires started was listed as follows: Lightning 1252; careless smokers 274; thoughtless campers 219; incendiaries 90; debris burning 27; lumber operations 13; railroads 9 and miscellaneous 135. LONDON, Dec. 19.—Fifteen persons have been killed and many are homeless following eruption of a volcano at Merapi, Central Java, reports to the evening papers today stated.

Natives fled from surrounding villages as lava rolled down the mountain side, burning everything in its path. The eruption was accompanied by loud rumblings and continuous lightning. The volcano has been active for two weeks.

Oak Street School Pupils Are Guests

Parents-Teachers Association Entertains At Christmas Party

The Oak Street school was a scene of gala festivity, and happiness reigned supreme Thursday evening when the Parent-Teacher Association entertained over 500 children at a Christmas party. At seven o'clock the children gathered in their rooms and played games, sang and told stories, while awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. Shortly after seven Santa arrived, bringing with him several clowns, Charlie Chaplin, and several other helpers, who aided him in distributing to each child a gift of candy, popcorn, crayons and a tablet on which the name of the School and a picture of Santa appeared. When the gifts had finally been distributed the children assembled on the play ground, where a beautiful large tree was illuminated with vari-colored lights and at the foot of the tree were piled the white gifts, which had been brought by the pupils as a Yuletide offering to the needy of the city.

The parents gathered with the children, about the tree, and after Dr. E. A. Crooks invoked the divine blessing, merry Christmas carols rang out on the frosty air, led by a quartet of Ernest McCreary, Anthony Clazza, Archie McClintock and Harry Lockley, on their wind instruments. The boys also played some selections in addition to the carols. Grades One and Two sang "The Gracie Hymn" under the direction of Harriet Kearns; grades three and four sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem"; grades five and six sang "Under the Stars" under the direction of Grace Eakin. The parents sang "Joy to the World," "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells," led by C. H. Martin. The success of the party was due to the efforts of Mrs. Leonard Cramer, president of the organization, and her committee; Dorothy Fisher, Helen Hinkson, Foster McEwen, Howard P. Meehan, Mrs. Harold Allen and Leonard Cramer, and to the kindness of William Kleckner for his donation of the tree and Wesley Dary for his donation of pop corn balls. Parents will be well repaid if they make meals pleasant social occasions which help knit the family together, instead of opportunities for family quarrels.

Radio Commission Rejects Proposal

Recommendation Of Chief Examiner Rejected By Federal Radio Commission

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The federal radio commission today rejected the recommendation of Chief Examiner Ellis A. Yost that all 40 cleared channels should be used by 50,000 watt stations, and remanded the report to him for further action.

Yost was directed to recommend which stations should be awarded 50,000 power under the present limitation of the commission which provides that maximum power should be used on only 20 of the cleared channels.

Yost's report had recommended that all stations which made application for 50,000 watts power which were operating on cleared channels, should be granted licenses of that character. In addition he recommended that general order 42 of the commission, which limited the maximum power to four out of the eight cleared channels in each zone, be amended to place all cleared channel stations on that power.

The commission declined to consider a report of that general character. Yost soon will make his recommendations on the basis desired by the commission.

A move of Commissioner H. A. Fafout to fix a hearing January 7 at which broadcasters and others would be invited to express their views on the amendment proposed by Yost, also was rejected by the commission.

FRENCH HORSEMEN COME OFF WINNERS

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Dec. 19.—French horsemen came off with brilliant honors at a recent gathering of Europe's finest riders, the annual International Horse Show here.

In spite of their reputation for little athletic ability, the Gallic riders headed the list with a straight win of the much-coveted Grand Prix Militaire and walked off with four other prizes, two seconds, two thirds and 57 minor prizes for various events. They exhibited remarkable skill and daring in the difficult jumping events, far outclassing their Italian rivals who have generally beaten them.

More than two hundred horses, the pick of several European countries, were ridden by crack army teams.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

35. George Rogers Clark—The March Begins

FEBRUARY 5, 1779, COLONEL CLARK SET OUT FROM KASKASKIA WITH 130 MEN TO MARCH AGAINST VINCENNES. THE VILLAGERS ESCORTED THE COLUMN TO THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE TOWN, WHERE THE GOOD FATHER GIBAUDT GAVE THE SOLDIERS A PARTING BLESSING. —

THE START WAS MADE IN A COLD, DRENCHING RAIN. DESPITE THE DESPERATE NATURE OF THE ENTERPRISE, CLARK FELT SURE OF TAKING MR. HAMILTON AND INSPIRED ALL HIS MEN WITH THE SAME CONFIDENCE. —

(Copyright, 1926, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

HISTORY HAS RECORDED FEW MARCHES AS DIFFICULT AS THAT OF CLARK FROM KASKASKIA TO VINCENNES. THE RAIN FELL CONSTANTLY, SOAKING THE MEN TO THE SKIN. THE TRAIL WAS ANKLE-DEEP WITH MUD AND CUT BY MANY SWOLLEN STREAMS. —

HAVING NO TENTS, CLARK'S MEN BIVOUACED AT NIGHT IN THE OPEN, SLEEPING ON THE COLD, WET GROUND. TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY MILES OF THIS SORT OF MARCHING, AND EVEN WORSE, LAY AHEAD OF THEM. —

Good Catchers Scarce On Big League Teams

Most Of Trades And Sales
So Far This Year Have Involved Catchers

All Teams It Appears Need Strengthening In Backstopping

By LES CONKIN

International News Service Sports
Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The release of Earl Smith, veteran backstop, by the St. Louis Cardinals brings to mind the fact that good catchers in the major leagues are becoming scarcer than chicken's molars.

While such ancient sages as Smith, Bubbles Hargrave and Benny Bengough have drifted out of the big time since the close of the 1930 season, other old time receivers are hanging on because of the dearth of capable young catchers.

Backstops have figured in most of the few deals made since the close of the campaign. Al Boel went from Pittsburgh to the Braves; Detroit signed Wallie Schang as coach and relief catcher; the Yankees got Cy Perkins from the Athletics; and the Red Sox acquired Muddy Ruel from Washington. All except Boel are veterans.

Need More Strength.

Several big league clubs need more strength behind the bat and other trades involving catchers may be made before the 1931 campaign gets under way. Brooklyn went part with Val Picinich in a deal for a southpaw pitcher and the Giants are said to be willing to part with Bob O'Farrell in exchange for a right hand hurler of proven worth. The Giants have a whole catching staff in Shanty Hogan, both in size and ability. They also have three promising recruits in Art Velman from Bridgeport, La. Vague from San Antonio and Frank Haley, touted as another Hogan.

Brooklyn needs a high class backstop to help out the brilliant young Al Lopez, who was so overworked last season that he was of little use in the first crucial contests. Cleveland needs another receiver to assist Luke Sewell. The Indians bid as high as $10,000 for Ruel but Washington let Muddy go to the Red Sox rather than strengthen a rival contender.

Catchers Weak Hitters.

The American league is much worse off than the National for hard-hitting catchers. Cochran, Dickey and Tate were the only regular receivers in the junior circuit who batted more than 300 last season.

Eight catchers, representing six clubs, hit for more than 300 in the National league but only three of them were listed in the first 25 batters.

Young ball players no longer want to become catchers. The job is the hardest on the diamond day in and day out. Cavorting about in the outfield is much easier than squatting behind the plate bundled up with a mask, protector and shin-guards especially on a hot summer afternoon. Nor is the prospect of blocking flying spikes of a baserunner particularly pleasing.

Youthful ball players of today are also keen businessmen and realize that catchers cannot hope to stick in the big league as long as other players. The wear and tear of the job soon slows up the liveliest backstop and sends him back to the minors, creaking in every joint, a veteran before his time.

Baer And Schaaf Battle Tonight

Heavyweight Aspirants Get Chance In New York
Arena Tonight

BOTH SEEKING TO
"CLIMB UP LADDER"

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service Sports
Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—a comparatively new name—Max Baer—may go up into the lights tonight.

All the owner of the moniker, which is so appropriately carpentered for either newspaper headlines or electric lights, has to do is to make good his promise to knock out Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, when they collide in the ring at Madison Square Garden tonight. It is the Californian's first Broadway appearance and if he clicks he is "made" a victory would put Baer up with headlines such as Sharkey, Stripling, Griffiths, Camera and others who are shooting at Max Schmeling's heavyweight crown.

The fight will bring together two of the finest physical specimens in the ring today. Schaaf was the model for the Muldoon-Turney trophy, which now stands in the Garden lobby as the symbol of the champion. The sculptors, however, utilized only Schaaf's body, and not his face. And it is not often that so formidably constructed an athlete as Baer is unveiled to the public. Max stands six feet three inches, has broad shoulders and a tapering waist and is the smoothest muscled big fellow to crowd the limelight since Jack Dempsey started the ringside at Toledo.

Both men will weigh in this afternoon. Schaaf probably will tip the beam around 204 Baer about 196. Max has the longest reach and about an inch advantage in height. In one sense they will present quite a contrast in there tonight, in that Max is a decided brute whereas Ernie is a decided blonde.

Tonight's bout will be the acid test for Baer. Although Baer's record shows 24 knockouts in 27 fights, he probably never encountered a fellow of the caliber of Schaaf who has never been knocked off his feet and who holds decisions over Johnny Risko, and Harold Mays and who has twice beaten Tommy Loughran. Baer has had eleven fights this year winning eight by "K. O. S." Baer is 21 years old, Schaaf is 22. They are regarded as two of the very best in the younger set of heavyweights.

Westminster To Play Two Pre-Season Tilts

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Coach "Pops" Harrison has issued orders to 11 members of the Westminster college basketball team to shorten their Christmas recess at home and to return to New Wilmington Monday morning, December 29 to prepare for the opening of the season against the strong Grove City team at Grove City Jan. 6.

The Titans will have two and three drills each day when they return, and will play two ball games in order to get set for the invasion of the Crimson camp. Kent State Teachers college will be played at Kent, Ohio, on Wednesday, December 31; and the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College team will be played at New Wilmington on Friday evening, Jan. 2.

Despite bear stories coming out of the Grove City camp that there are a number of Grovers on the injured list, Westminster fears this year's edition of Bob Thorn's passers. The opening game of the season for each club finds two old rivals in early-season form trying to play in mid-season style. Thorn's team will have the advantage in experience, since only two regulars from last year's Westminster team will be available. These are Captain Phil Rice and Marsh Fisher, guards.

Fisher has not reported for the past week, due to a severe cold. Danny Considine, star forward, will not be ready until February. His broken collar bone is taking longer to heal than was expected. Tom Coles, a freshman competitor, is also out with a sprained ankle.

2,000,000 Christmas Trees Will Be Used In State This Year

HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Upwards of two million Christmas trees will be used in Pennsylvania during the holiday season, according to estimates by officials of the state department of forests and waters.

As usual, large quantities of trees will be imported into southeastern Pennsylvania, particularly Philadelphia, as well as the Pittsburgh district and the anthracite region. The imported trees are mostly spruce and fir from the New England and lake states, or from Canada.

Six or seven hundred carloads of Christmas trees are sent into Michigan and as far west as the state of Washington. The latter trees were Douglas fir. This tree is not related to the Balsam fir of the east, but both species are in demand due to their great beauty and symmetrical form.

Larger numbers of trees than ever before will be cut this year from forest tree plantations in Pennsylvania, assert officials of the department. Some of these trees are already on the market. Although seedlings for reforestation now distributed by the department are to be set out for timber plantations rather than Christmas tree use, many of the trees now being cut for this purpose are from plantations established more than eight years ago, before the present ruling. Others are from plantations made with seedlings purchased from commercial nurseries. The sales of planted Christmas trees from one estate in eastern Pennsylvania now amount to several thousand dollars annually.

The advantage of home grown Christmas trees is obvious, since they are freshly cut and not so liable to injury in shipment. The imported trees gathered in the forests of Canada and the north woods are commonly cut from six weeks to two months or more before Christmas. They are also tightly bound for freight shipment and are handled frequently.

In the management of Christmas tree plantations it is estimated that if sturdy seedlings or transplants are set out the trees may be cut from five to ten years after planting. A block of trees may be planted each year, and after the first block becomes old enough to harvest, a subsequent block is of suitable size for each year's crop thereafter. As each block is cut it is replanted. The trees are planted from four to five feet apart, using two to three thousand to the acre. Planting stock for Christmas tree plantations may be secured from commercial nurseries for five to ten dollars a thousand trees.

Rockne Is Patient In Mayo Hospital

Famous Notre Dame Coach Undergoing Treatment And Rest At Rochester, Minn.

(International News Service) ROCHESTER, Minn., Dec. 19.—A generally fatigued condition today kept Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football mentor, a patient in Mayo Brothers Clinic, his physicians reported.

The condition was brought about by the strenuous 1930 football season, the preliminary physical examination showed, and his physicians ordered Rockne to remain here for two weeks.

Rockne agreed to remain here for two weeks or longer to make sure that his weakened condition is not caused by a recurrence of the leg blood clot which brought a crisis in his condition last winter.

Will Cavalry Survive Planes? Visiting Officers Say "Sure!"

The assertion that men on horseback are as out of date in this modern age of 40 mile an hour caterpillar tanks and swooping airplanes, as knight of old, however bold, was emphatically denied in no uncertain words by Major Samuel B. Wolfe, commander of the Second Squadron, 104th Cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, and Captain James B. Shelton, U. S. Cavalry instructor for the 103rd regiment who after inspecting drill and equipment of Troop F, New Castle's horse-riding guardmen, Wednesday night.

And the distinguished officers who were the guests of the local outfit's civilian committee, were loud in their praise of mounted warriors in warfare. The airplane is all right, they said, but its use will never bring about the abandonment of men on horseback.

Why?

Well, to begin with airplanes are handicapped by fog and darkness. Modern anti-aircraft guns can force pilots to keep under cover.

Cavalrymen are indispensable in infantry engagements, the major said. Shelton and Wolfe pointed to the Mexican engagements as an example of what modern cavalry can do in case of an emergency.

They also pointed to Allenby's campaign with the Turks in the Holy Land, where they asserted, the war would have been lost by the allies if cavalry had not been employed.

Asked why U. S. cavalry was not used in the World War the major declared the late conflict was a trench war, and trench fighting is impossible with cavalry. Cavalry reconnaissance for infantrymen was said by the visiting officers to be one reason why the cavalry will never lose favor with military strategists.

Carnera Halts British Boxer

(International News Service) LONDON, Dec. 19.—British ring experts unanimously agreed today that Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, won his match from Reggie Meen, the 200-pound British heavy-weight.

Their scheduled ten-round bout at Albert Hall last night lasted only four and one half minutes, when the referee intervened and halted the fight because of Meen's physical exhaustion.

After a round and a half of aggressive fighting on Carnera's part, with the Britisher unable to land a single blow and receiving a severe battering, the Italian floored him for the count of nine with an uppercut to the chin.

Meen got up before the bell but was dazed and the referee stopped the battle.

Speculative Fever Cools In Stock Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Prices in most sections of the market were carried to lower levels today by profit-taking at the opening, but good rallies were under way before the end of the first hour. That speculative interest had cooled off somewhat was seen in the sale of only 210,000 shares in the first half-hour, against 650,000 shares in the same period on Wednesday. Selling for "tax losses" was also in evidence, appearing on the tape in the form of broken-lots of various sizes.

A drive against the shorts in Auburn Auto, Vanadium and other close-held specialties, resulted in new upturns of 2 to 6 points. Auburn sold at 114, ex-dividend $1 cash and 2 per cent stock, while Vanadium topped for a gain of 3 points. U. S. Steel, General Electric and Westinghouse made up their early losses and American Can moved a point to 112.

A $91,000,000 reduction in brokers' loans brings to total to around two billion dollars, compared with 6½ billions at the peak of the 1929 bull market. This was further support of evidence of the concentration of stocks in strong hands and the gradual whittling down of weak margin holdings. The whole market quieted down near the noon period, the Coppers and Oils being again under mild pressure.

Grain and Cotton reacted in the early trading, but bonds turned upward and made further progress in their recovery, call money was in good supply at 2 per cent.

The court held for the broker. The judges reasoned thus: Dealing in stocks, even on the margin, is not gambling. Stocks are legitimate subjects of speculative buying and selling, just as flour or iron or coal.

Vacation Starts In City Schools

Nearly eleven thousand public school students leave their books and classes today for the annual Christmas vacation which will last until Monday, January 5. For the most part the schools will hold Christmas programs this afternoon and will dismiss at the close of the exercises, probably between 2:30 and three o'clock.

Although the end of the semester does not come until late in January, this really marks the half of the school year. With the exception of single days, there has been no extended vacation since the opening of school.

Early Decision Is Expected In Dry Law Ruling

Attempt Will Be Made To Advance Judge Clark's Decision In High Court

APPEAL FILED BY FEDERAL ATTORNEY

(International News Service)
NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19.—An early decision was expected today in the appeal to the United States supreme court of Judge William Clark's ruling that the 18th amendment was invalid.

Federal Attorney Phillip Forman
as he entered the notice of appeal here yesterday, announced he had been informed by Solicitor General Thomas D. Thatcher in Washington that an attempt would be made to advance the case on the high court calendar.

If the government motion to advance the case is granted the appeal will be put ahead of pending cases and the supreme court will rule on it in the present session, which ends in June, it was understood.

Federal Attorney Forman and Defense Counsel Frederic M. P. Pearse met in Judge Clark's chambers in the federal building here yesterday.
William Sprague and William Howey, the farmer and the innkeeper whose arrests began the case, waited nearby in the lawyers' office.

The steps taken in the appeal were simple. Judge Clark formally quashed the indictment against Sprague and Hovey. He then received from Forman an assignment of errors. It remained for him only to sign "appeal allowed William Clark" at the bottom of the notice of appeal and the matter was completed. Pearse assented to the appeal to expedite matters.

Ten head of cattle, four horses, a pony and 150 chickens perished in the blaze. A large quantity of farm

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

It isn't Christmas Day for nearly a week yet, but there will be plenty Christmas presents distributed today in the schools. Today blows the whistle on this year's (not term's) school days and the young ladies who have been drilling away since last September endeavoring to explain the mysteries of X, and the background of the Civil War will get a breather.

In the schools this afternoon will be the annual Christmas party when Bud Smith and Sally Jones will recite some of those old classics such as "The Night Before Christmas" "Hang Up the Baby's Stocking" and the rest of them. Many little boys will sit through the performance stoically, suffering the agonies of the inquisition as a stiff shirt cor-fines a rebellious neck, and a shiny pair of shoes seems to be mocking.
And while the teacher is dwelling upon the history of the early Chris-mas, and some of them go back to the Winter Solstice, some of our future prominent citizens will be thinking of shiny, or a fast game of duck-on-davy.

Up under the tree will be a collection of packages, containing those fancy embroidered handkerchieves, which all teachers are supposed to adore, pin cushions done in baby doll style, door stoppers made to represent a gootus bloom at rest.

and a picture or two of a Stag at Bay.

It's a great custom, a day when an arithmetic between teacher and student is signed and small boys have to wash the back of their necks. When little girls dress up in their very best and fond mamma sit through the exercises with a smile frozen on their countenances.
The smile is begun as a mask to hide mortification in case Susie forgets her piece, and is left on there as a relief measure as she finished up with a couple of gulps and a bow.

Along about three o'clock the exercises finish, the presents are opened, the room echoes with ohs and ahs! and the gang leaves for a two weeks vacation. An old custom and a pleasant one, if perhaps one can forget that far off day in Thaddeus Stevens school when the teacher discovered who had done up a paving brick in tissue paper and had placed it on her desk.

The Parson dropped in today with another Scotch story. This one about the lad who gave his girl a lip stick for a Christmas present because he figured he would get it back.

This one the Parson claims happened to him. He was marrying a young Scot and a lass and after the ceremony the excited bridegroom kissed the Parson and gave the bride ten dollars.

The apple selling fad has reached New Castle. It began in New York, spread over into Philadelphia and then jumped the hill into Pittsburgh. Now it's here. Nice rosy looking apples at a nickel a copy and if the fad takes here, the doctors are in for a slack weather, if the old axiom is right.

Pardon the materialistic philosophy, but I've been wondering if the apple growers aren't back of this movement? But then they are good apples.

The curb vender hasn't made his appearance, but the door to door salesman has. Doesn't ask you to buy a couple of pounds or a peck wants to know "d'ye wanna buy an apple?"

"Thirty-eight years," the Chinese

"How have you gotten along—

"No, no trouble," answered Jung, with beaming countenance.
"Where is your wife now?" Miller inquired.
"Oh, she been in China all the

Constable Had Stock Dealings

Stock Market Speculations
Of Accused Constable, Revealed In Court

LEECHBURG CHIEF RECEIVES THREAT

(International News Service)
KITTANNING, Pa., Dec. 19.—Revealing a series of stock market speculations in which William Raper, former constable at Leechburg, sought and obtained the aid of Joseph Conto, wealthy Leechburg pop manufacturer, for whose slay-ing he is being tried, counsel for the commonwealth prepared to offer final prosecution testimony today.

Harry Fried, stock salesman, and I. T. Weil, treasurer of a bond brokerage house, both of Pittsburgh, prosecution witnesses, produced office records to trace the decline of Raper's marginal account to the point where he was forced to seek aid from Conto.

Martin O'Leary, Leechburg chief of police, told the court that Raper had threatened him with blackmail unless he was guaranteed a "square deal" in the trial.
"All I ask is that you see I get a square deal—or I'll tell some of the things I know about you," Raper told O'Leary when he met him at the Leechburg railroad station when the former constable was returned there from Gary, Ind., the police chief testified.

Mrs. Conto, the slain man's widow, testified that she admitted Raper to her home on several occasions when he came to borrow stock certificates from her husband. She said Conto was usually asleep when Raper called and that after she had awakened him he procured the stocks for the defendant.

Stock Speculator To Fight Charge

Gilbert Beesmyer, Church Leader And Stock Speculator Held On Coast

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 19.— Gilbert Beesmyer, church leader and asserted stock speculator, who is charged with losing between $8,000-000 and $10,000,000 of building and loan money, will face his third court appearance today amid armed deputy sheriffs.
On his two previous appearances in court to beg for time in which to make up his mind about pleading guilty or not guilty, ominous murmurs and loud shouts greeted him.

Beesmyer is charged with ten counts of grand theft for asserted looting of the Guaranty Building &
Loan association of Hollywood.

When arrested he confessed, and told authorities he would plead guilty. His attorney employed attorney Judge Walton J. Wood refused to hear a plea unless it was with legal advice, announced he would fight to the finish.

District Attorney Buron Pitts declared he will ask the grand jury for 50 more indictments against Bees-myer if Beesmyer fights the charges.

Moons To Surround World Of Future

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 19.—World inhabitants of the far future will live on an earth surrounded by little moons, giving moonlight all night long, according to Sir James Jeans, eminent British mathematician and astronomer.

The rings round Saturn, Sir
James said in a radio broadcast talk here, consist of millions and millions of tiny moons, which were believed to be broken fragments of a large moon.

"In the far future our own moon must inevitably be drawn closer and closer to the earth until it meets the same fate," he said. "After this our earth will have millions of little moons which will surround it, and there will be full moonlight all night long."
"Yet life on the earth will be none too comfortable then. Every now and then tiny moons will collide and their fragments will fall on the earth in the form of huge rocks."
